To reach
Beyond our grasp, to feel
Proud in victory,
Whether it is wildly joyful or
Quietly content,
To be unwilling to accept
Defeat, but if defeat be Inevitable, to accept it gracefully—and then
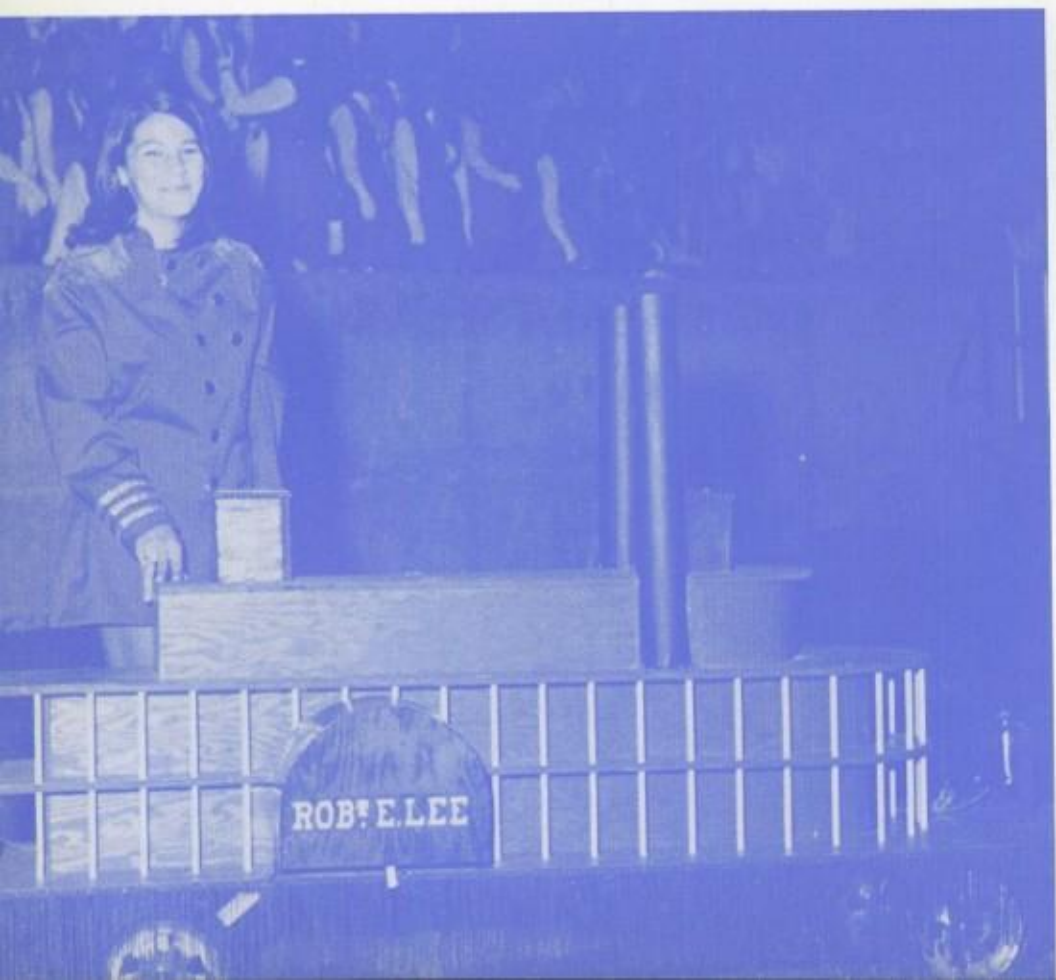
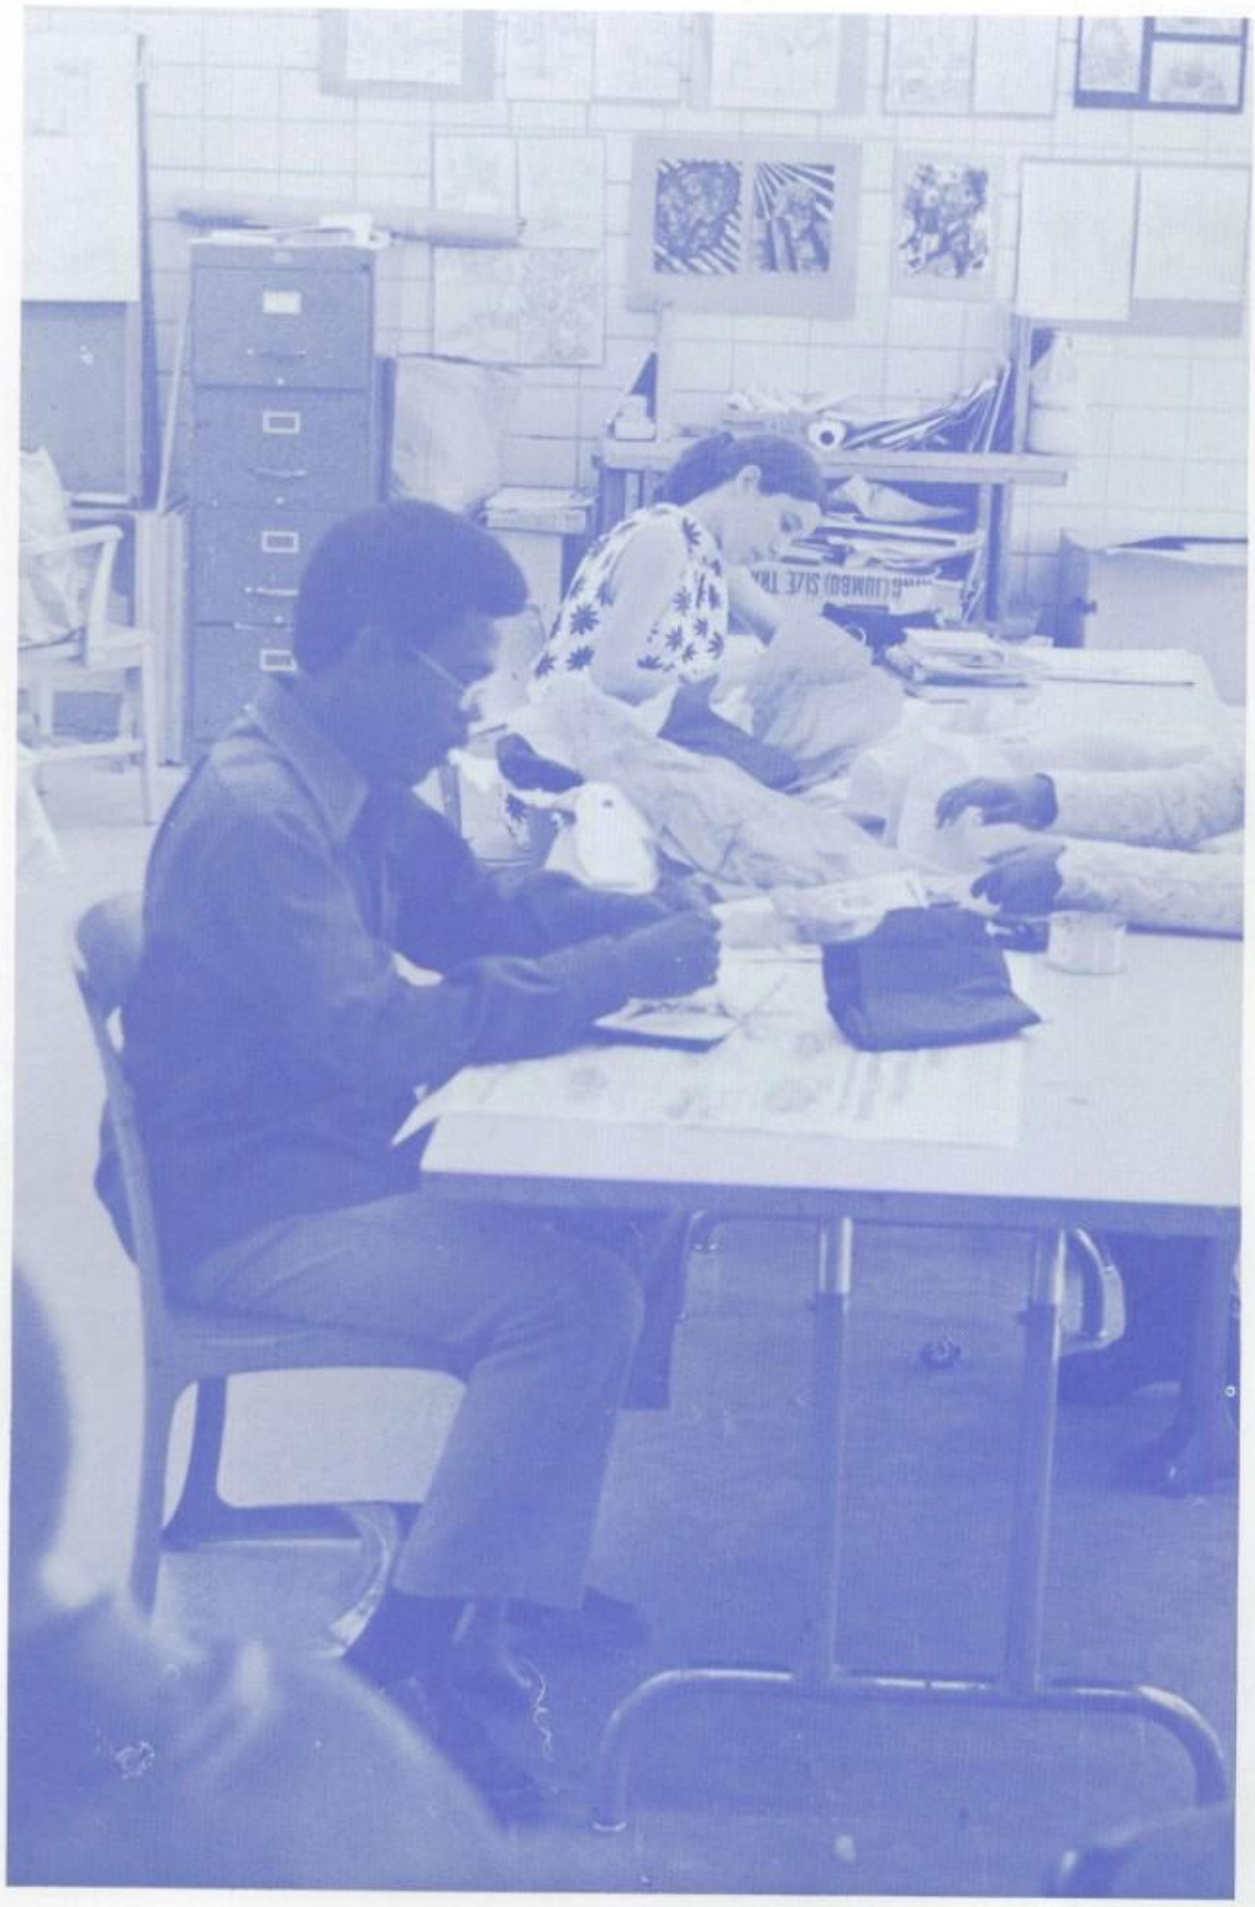
To reach
Again . . .

Spirit as Lee is evident not only in athletic contests, but in all competition—music, drama, art, scholarship. Pride in our accomplishments runs deep, especially in that most important contest: Life.

Homecoming '71



ROB! E.LEE



Without knowledge, the soul is dead. For it is only with the attainment of truth that an absolute beauty and goodness is found. We are held prisoners by ignorance, until, with knowledge, we become capable of reaching out, grasping ideas, sharing thoughts, becoming aware . . . understanding.

Whether we realize it or not, the quest for knowledge is the search for a perfect truth answering "Why does each winter bring death and yet there will always be birth?" "Why life?" Knowledge cannot be found without others; it is transient until developed and shared . . . without it, there is no truth.

Closed in dull black shadows crowding over shadows
Touch me with light, please. I am
Reaching out, searching
Under shadows, and
The bars of darkness
Hold me in
Where is the sun?

H2 "Est-ce que tu connais la juillet?" Bien entendu. C'est le jour de la fête nationale en Amérique
"Sais-tu pourquoi?" "C'est le jour de la Déclaration de l'Indépendance américaine." "Quel est la date de la
Déclaration de l'Indépendance
Le quatre juillet.

Thank you for sharing my joy
And wonder at the first sign of Spring
Sharing the warmth and harmony of existence together
For you were the one who perceived my thoughts
Before I even transmitted them into open air
To be praised, used, crushed
You helped me mold ideas with a stimulation that
Was so rare that my mind was pressed
On all sides.
A fire burned inside
A spark ignited into consciousness
A thought was forged
And when I was low, thank you for the nonessential trivial that made the wound-up knot inside me go away.
Thank you for being frank with me
Thank you for being there.

What's this, my friend?
Your generous words please me, but
You praise the left hand too much for a
House that was built with both left and right.
My foundations were of sand;
I should have washed away but for you
Who leaned upon me; Now the grains of Sand, pressed, are as granite—I stand more firmly.
Your thoughts, how well I knew them:
Were they not my own? But it was you
Who first released them
Thinking, perhaps, I knew the answere.
Your mind's wondering touched me—
I grieved to see you asking questions that'
Might forever be unanswered.
And so when you searched for wisdom I gave What knowledge I had, and
When you felt defeat I made some poor jest
To bring a smile back, Not answers—
I could not give you those. But if I
Gave you strength to ask again
And again, I am content. For you have Given me so much more.
You taught me how to wonder, too.
You taught me how to give.

Do not scorn love, for Love is real.
Cynics will tell you that love
Is a bitter thing at best;
Be undeceived.
To be loved is to be master of the universe.
Most-loved of all
Are they who give freely of their own.
Open your heart.
Spend your love as if it were
A bottomless chest of gold.
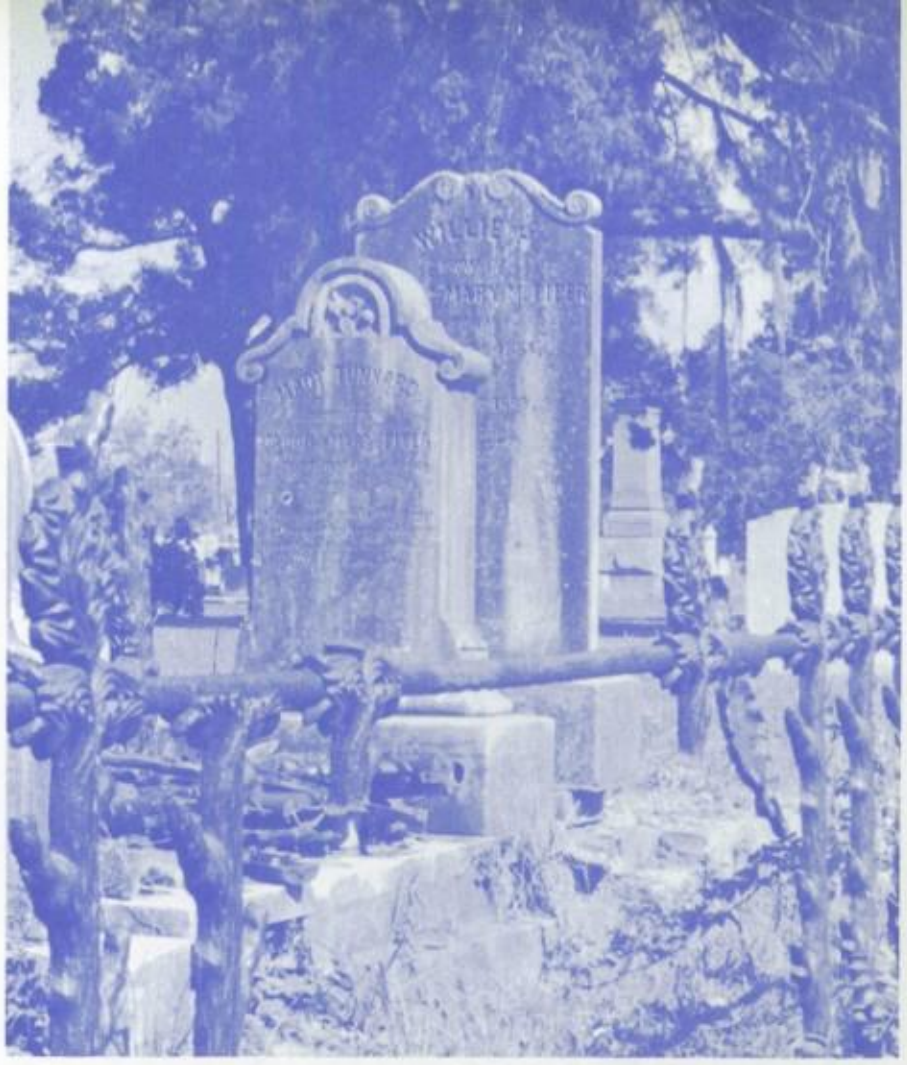
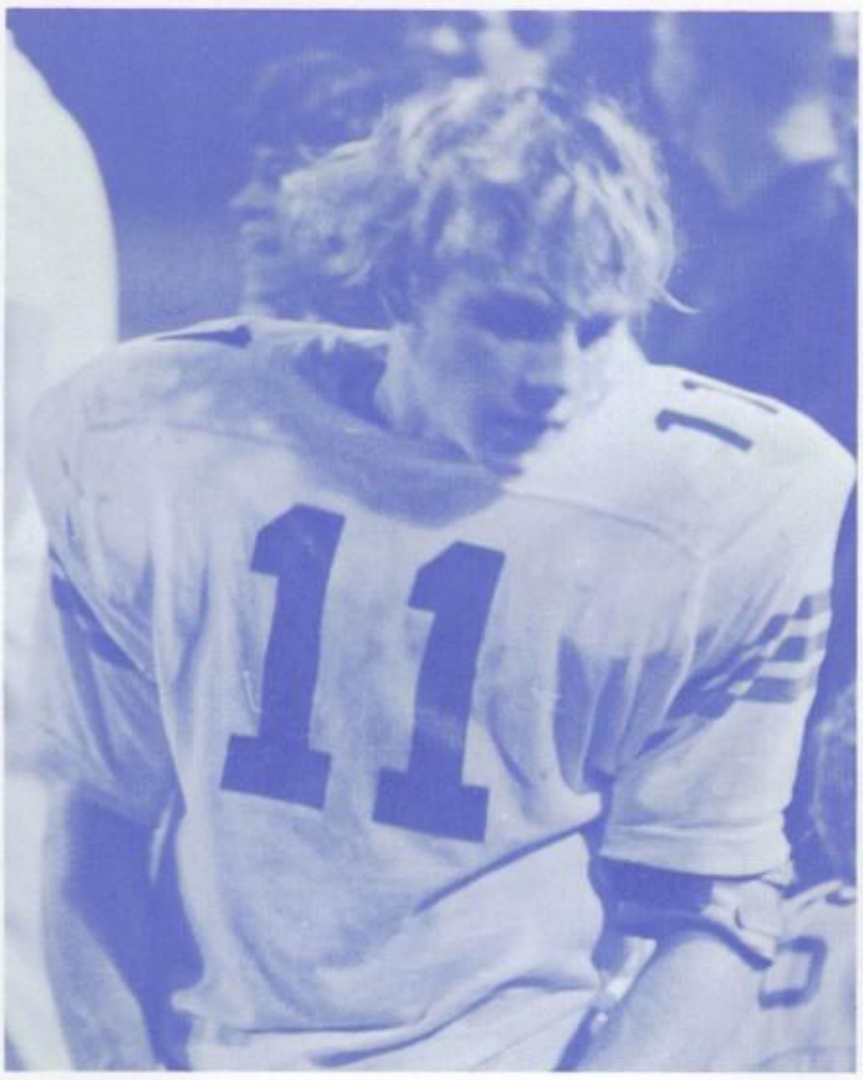
Shower the riches of your love on those Seemingly undeserving, as well as on those Easily loved; For it is not our task to decide
Who is to receive the greatest measure.

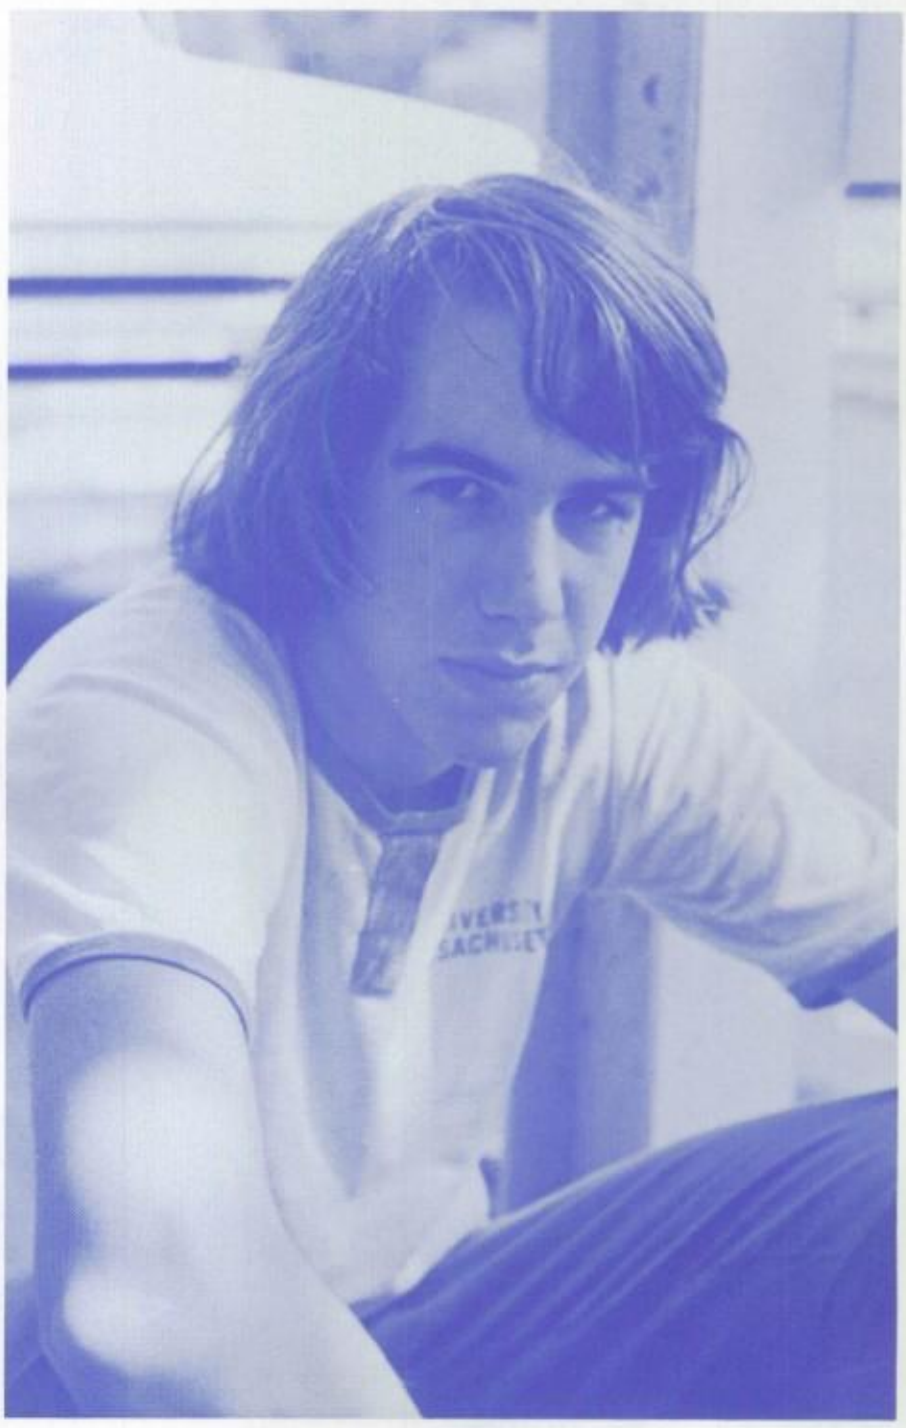
Ever since time immemorial, man has strived to do the impossible. And ever since time immemorial, he has been defeated.

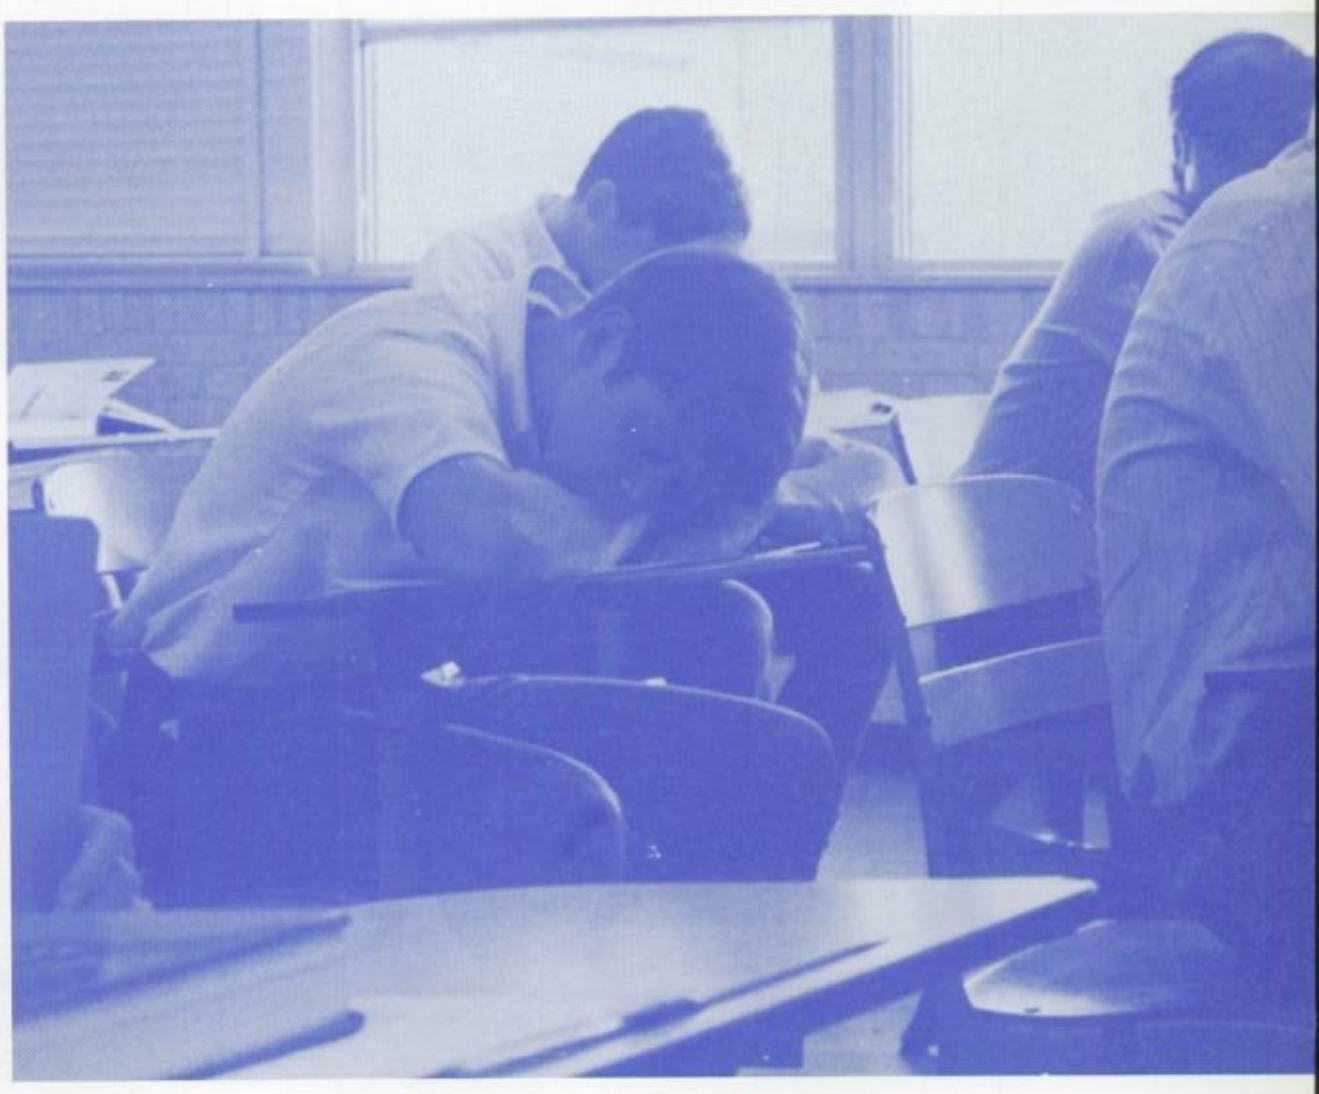
Every day is a race, a contest with others, with ourselves, with life. And since we cannot achieve all things, we must suffer defeat. Sometimes we accept it automatically, and, sometimes—the forces that make up our spirit become so shattered, so unbalanced, that we see our defeat in everything. In People's Faces. In Reflections. In Every Touch. In Every Movement We Make. Sometimes it changes our goals. Sometimes it makes us even stronger in searching for our original objectives . . . Sometimes it destroys us.

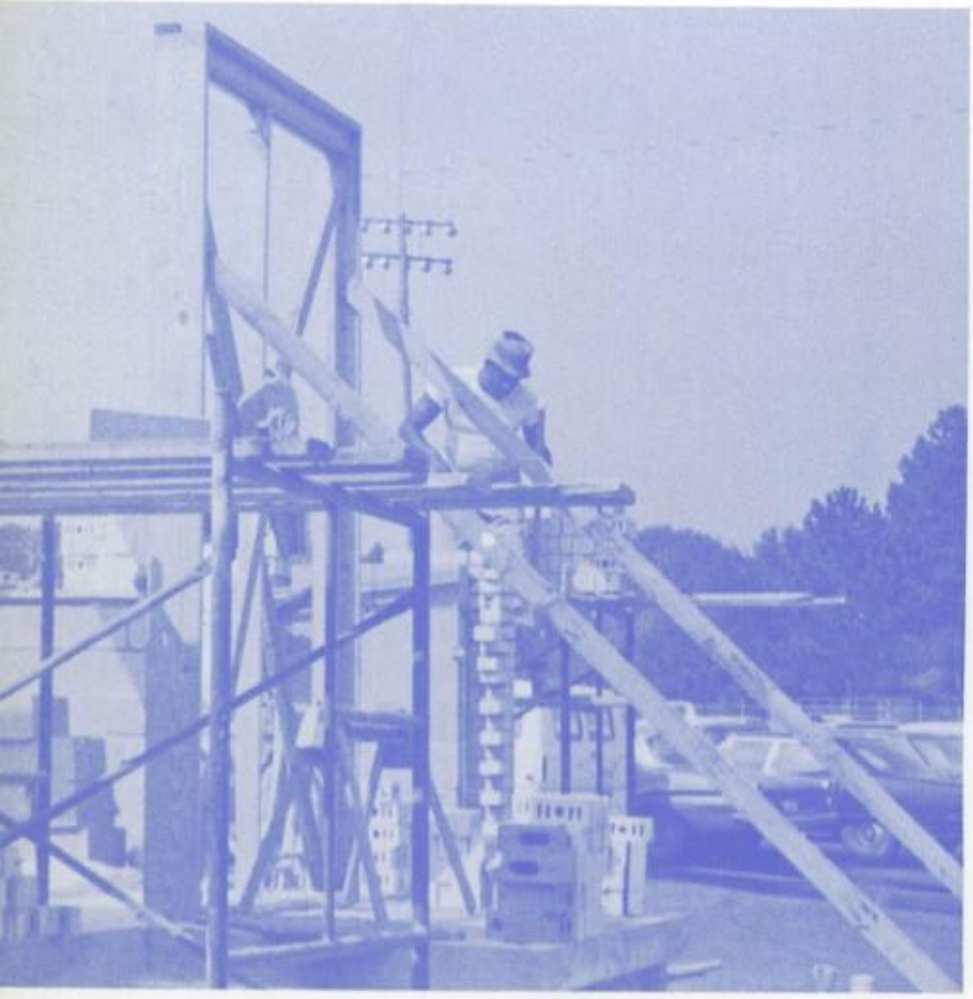
We don't accept our defeat until we see someone else win. But Hope Continues. And those who look deep within themselves see that that which has defeated them is also the thing that can bring them an ultimate happiness. For our last defeat is a door opened . . .

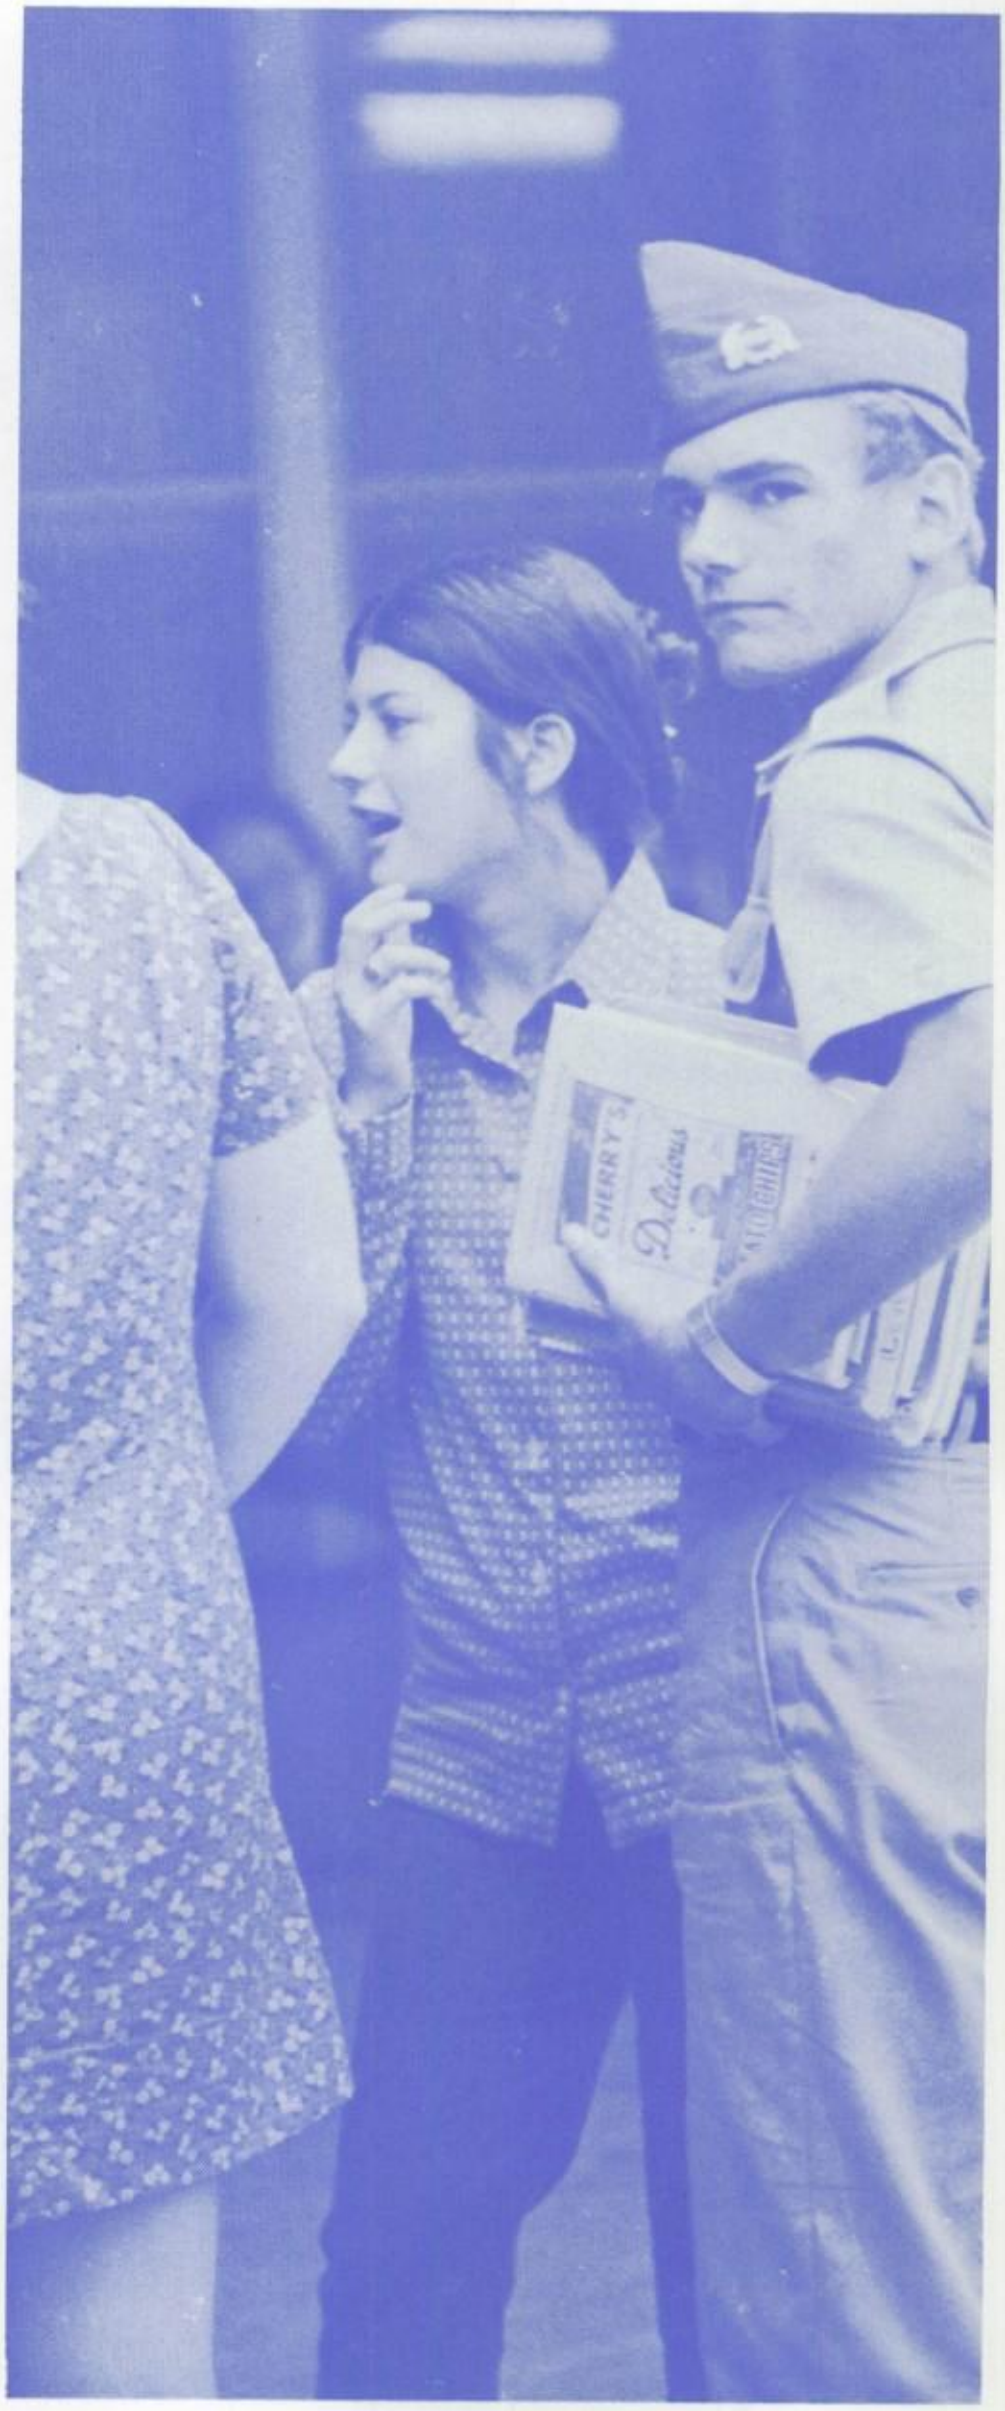


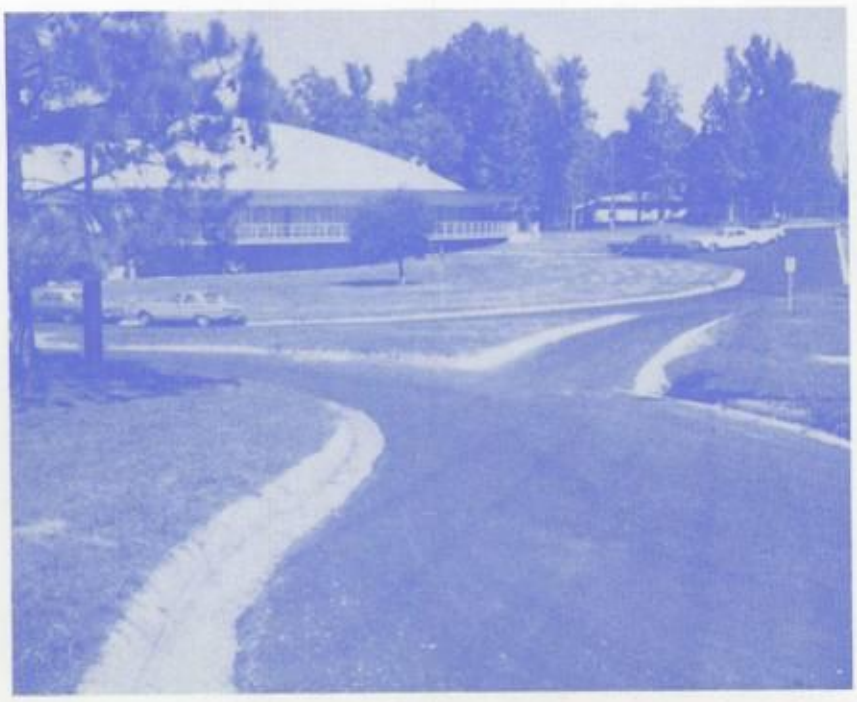






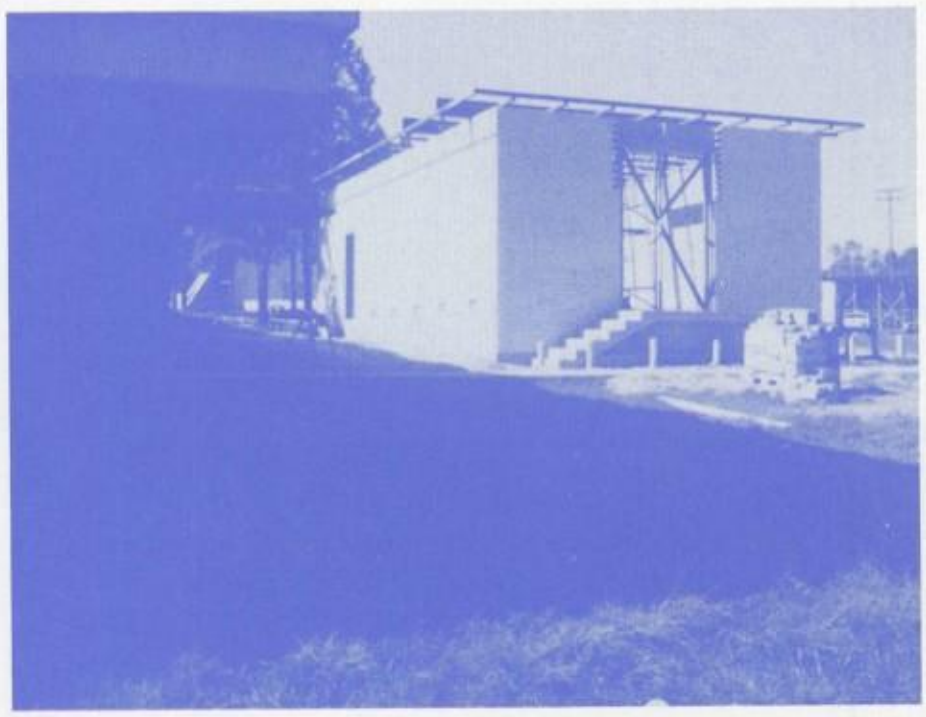


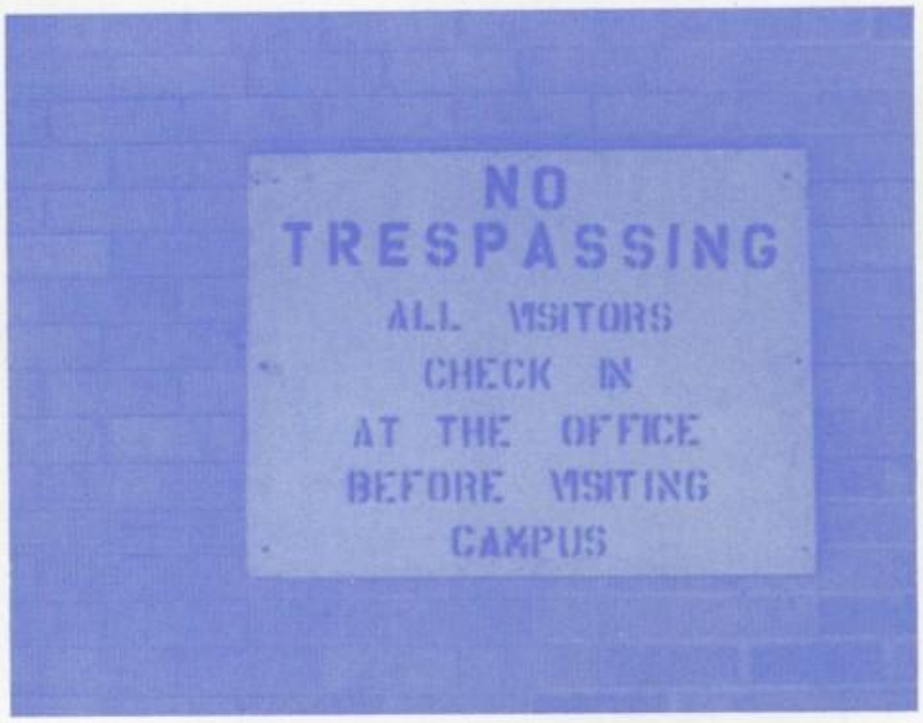




Since it is human nature to allow the mind to become stagnant, change can be a rather frightening thing sometimes. We are encountered with it everyday, whether it is small or of such importance as to affect society drastically. Some of us, through habit or through fear, cannot accept these changes easily. This is very sad, for it is only with change that one may grow.

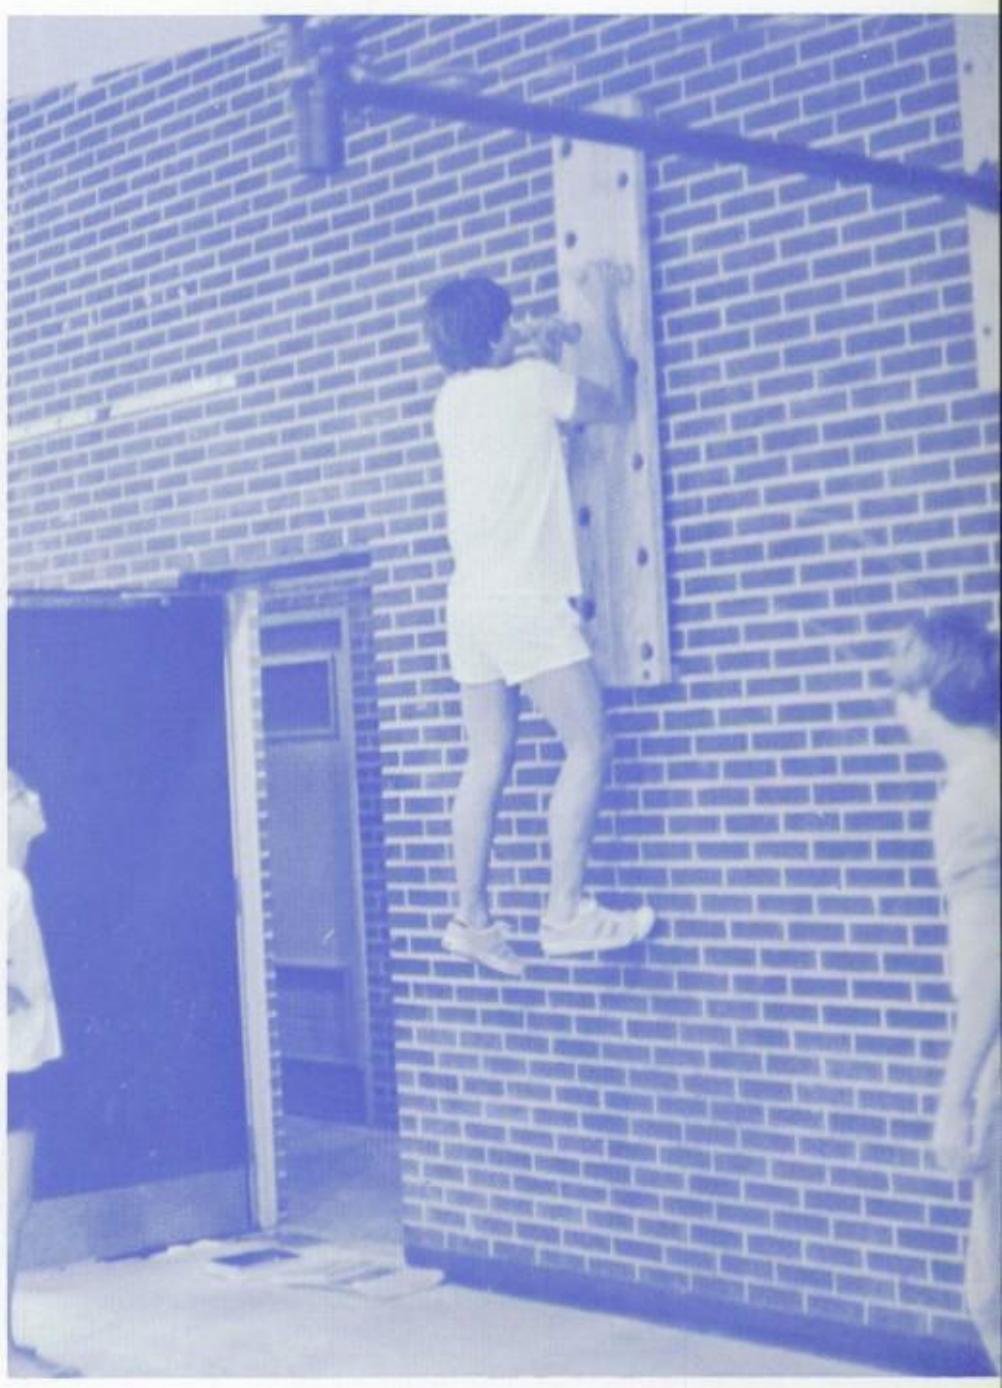
As we grow older, therefore, we must allow our minds to remain flexible—flexible enough to accept change without fear. Tradition is good, for it is in looking at the past that we learn to correct our mistakes. We cannot put too much emphasis on it, however, or as we are looking backwards, change will leave us behind.

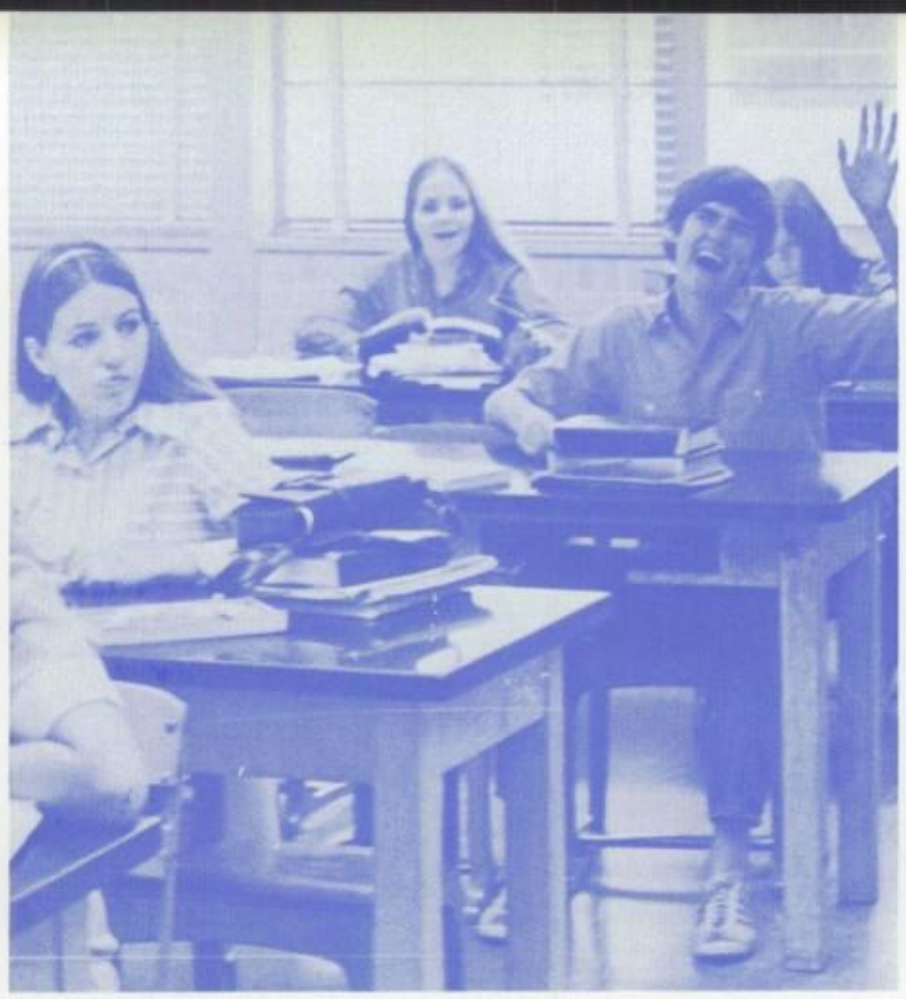


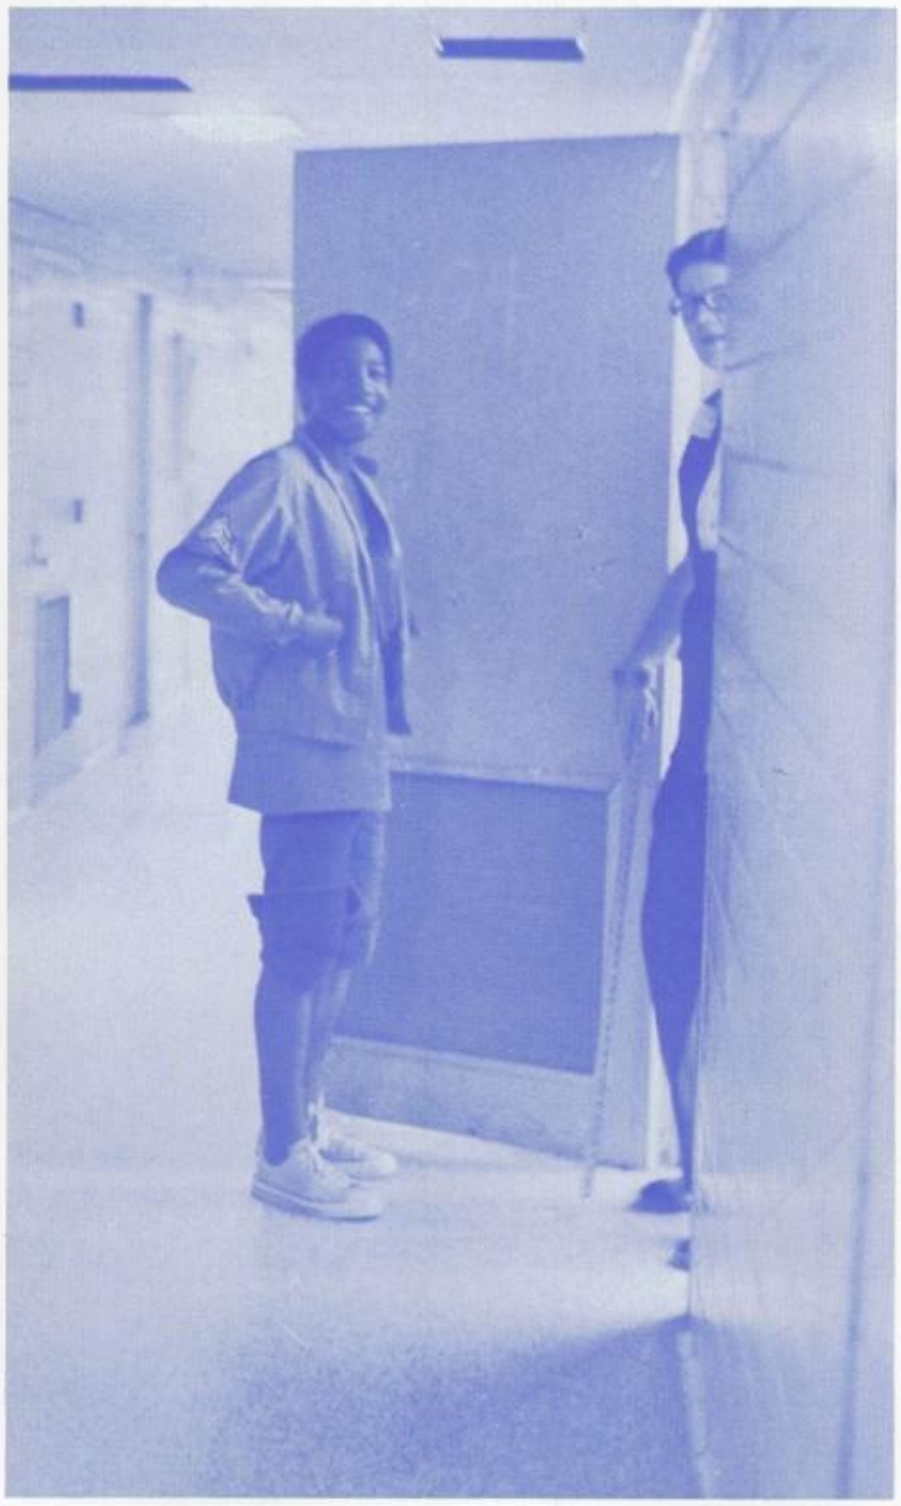


Sometimes the job seems too tough—fighting pressures, feeling tired, thinking "I just can't take it any more" . . . yet we work on. Work is a natural part of life. How we do our work determines how much, or in what way, we love life. Some work for glory, some work only for others; some work for the sheer joy of accomplishment.

If we love our work, it is that much easier to do. An exciting job, a rewarding task, recognition, fulfillment—hopefully we will receive some measure of these things. Minor everyday chores fill our lives and drag us downward, but most of us keep on plodding. The lucky ones have stopped plodding and started walking. Though their work is no less dreary, they know the quality of it depends on them, not on the job. To them, even drudgery has beauty if they can say, "I have done it well."







Happiness is an unexpected quality of mood; one can never be quite sure when a feeling of elation will consume them. It can be like a spark of light in the darkness or it can be like a continuing beacon, getting brighter and brighter, spreading and infecting others. Happiness can be a quiet inner joy or a hearty laughter going on and on, collapsing into painful mirth.

Happiness must radiate from within and extend to others, for it is meant to be shared. It has to be shared or it is lost forever in a moment of time.

I think my own way,
I feel my own way,
And everything, every single gesture, word, and thought is me.

I'm so happy
I'm alive.

I am swept up, hurled onward by relentless schedules, half-swallowed by conformity. Fifteen hundred students, numbered and filed; all the faces are the same. Is it true? Am I just passing through, living my high school years in total obscurity? Is there no time to wonder, to become aware of myself? I am one, a unique person. Will they understand my need to be different sometimes, to be myself? Yes. Within each of the fifteen hundred there still survives that vital spark, fanned brighter as we grow toward maturity—Individuality.

People

Each of us is a separate individual, with different qualities from the other person. And each of us has his own ideas about things and his own standards for living. But in any type of organized society, all of us have to learn to get along with that other person, to accept his ideas and standards. Working, playing, and learning together helps. The final acceptance never comes. But the striving for it is what makes a body of individuals a whole.

I awoke, startled in the night.
Infinity crowded into my mind,
pounding, expanding it
Thoughts came like waves surging inward on a desolate shore, one not quite complete until another covered it.
I was all-knowing, all-seeing.

Everything that I shall become or know passed through my mind like wind
through fields of ripe grain.
All my adolescent fears were diminshed;
confidence was powerful.

But conciousness ended; I slept, awoke again aware that I must go through a life time to gain what I know
in one moment of time.

Academics

The pursuit of knowledge should be a life-long occupation; but it is especially important now, while our minds are fresh, open, eager. Learning is our main function as students. We have a trememdous opportunity before us. Books are written, libraries and laboratories are built, men and women offer their knowledge—all so that we might find an answer, a truth, or perhaps another question. Whether or not we accept this—and dare to ask our questions and search until we find something—an end or a beginning—is a decision that each individual must make. Who will rise to the challenge?

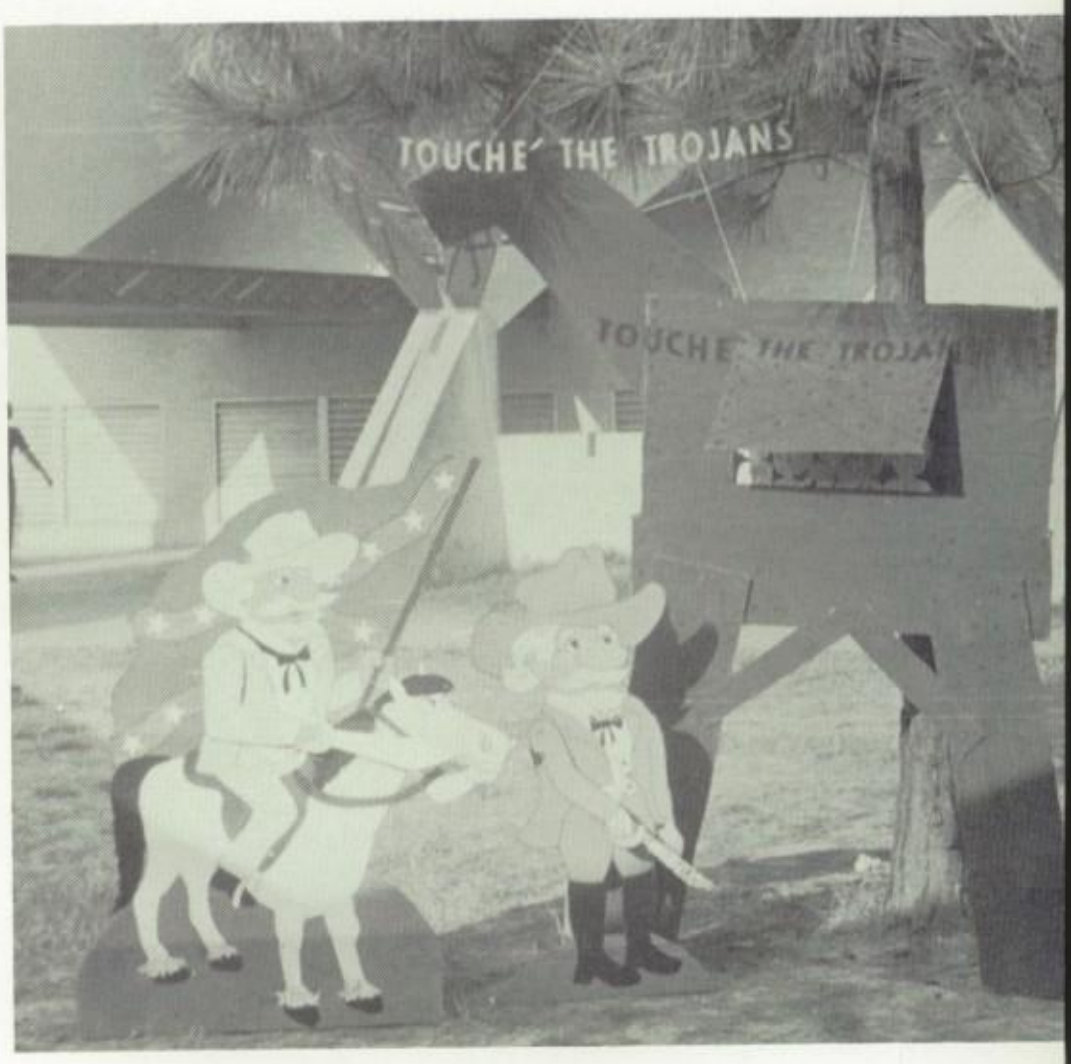
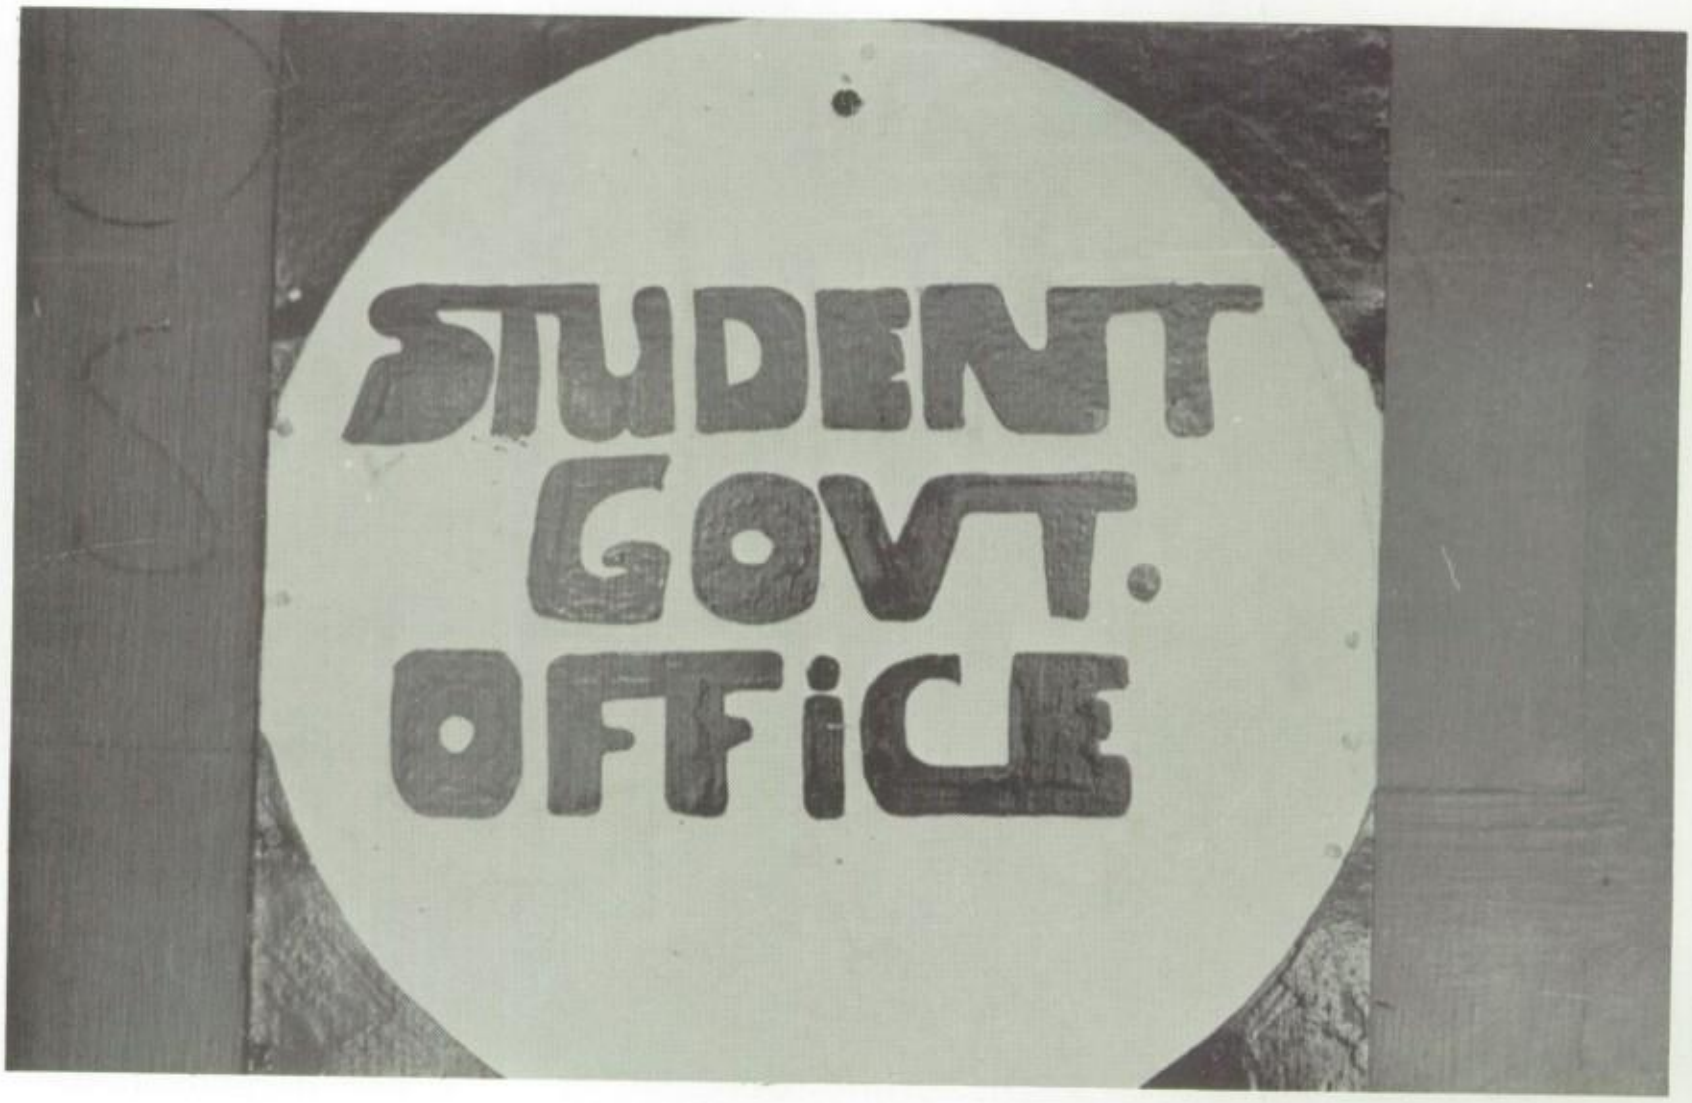
Student Life

Planting pine trees on Saturday afternoon, wooly caps, dancing to "The Sister and The Brothers", class dues, bottom corner lockers, overdue books, recycling cans and paper, locker tags, the tension and excitement of performance behind the curtain, fighting game traffic, eating lunch under the trees, marching in the mud . . . all this and more. Many things go into making up the emotions of life at Lee High.





The student government at Lee has proven to be one of the most beneficial and serviceable organizations of the school. It has helped the school operate properly, and has raised money for many school events. Left—Donny Thompson assembled this replica of the "Robert E. Lee" steamboat for the school. This work was done over the summer and required great skill and energy.
Right—Craig Campbell preparing to make a speech to the student body at a pep rally.

Student Government promotes efficiency and spirit.

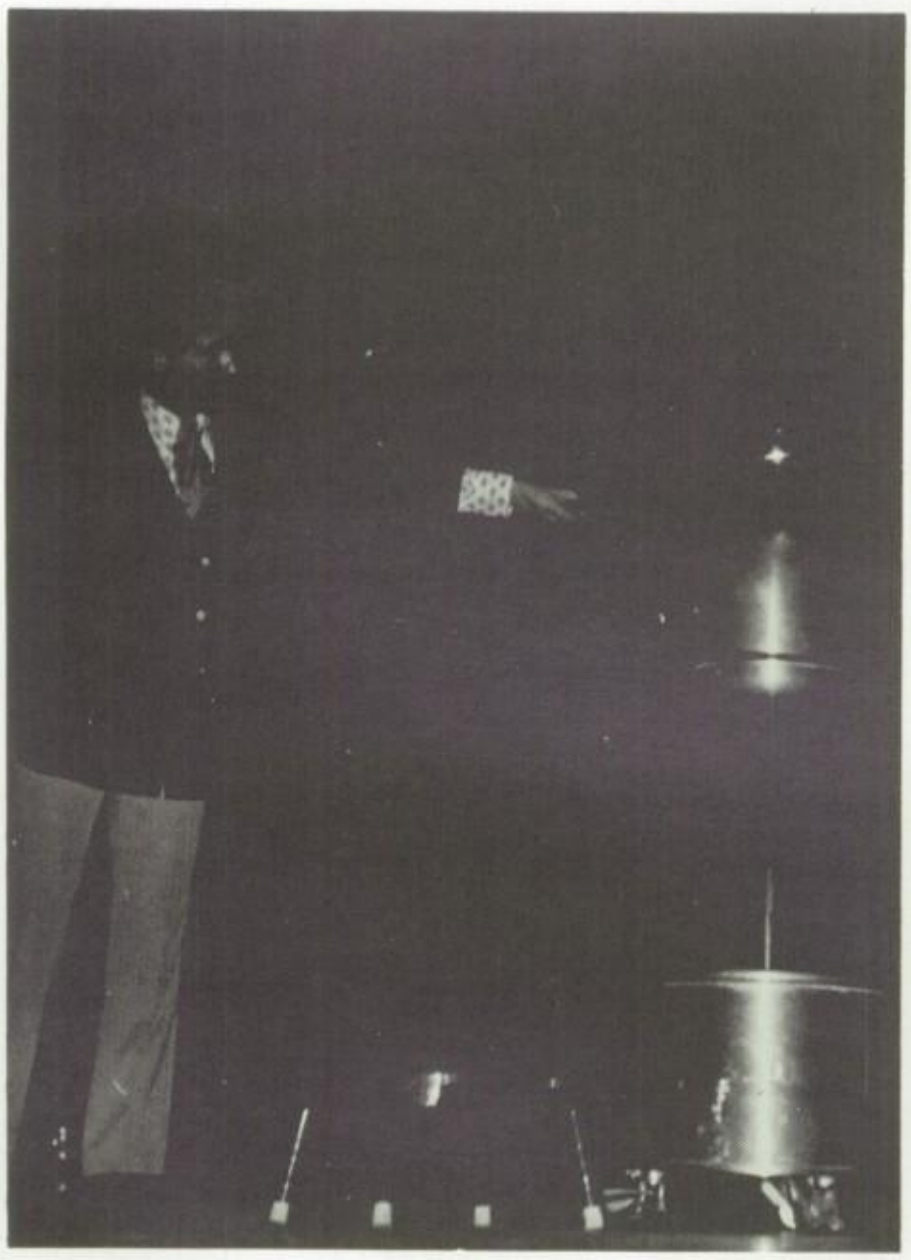
Atomic Energy Commissioner visits Lee.



Sparks are produced from an atom smasher by holding a special rod near it.

The speaker prepares to bring about a hair raising change in Charlotte's appearance with an atom smasher.

Fine acting made "Alice in Wonderland" the success it was.

Lee was fortunate this year in having a special speaker come to our school. He was from the Atomic Energy Commission and supplied many interesting facts about radiation and atomic energy, which he relayed to us through the help of two very lovely personalities from the student body, Charlotte Ruiz and June Cheney.

Upper Left—June Cheney takes a drink of coke. What June didn't know was that her drink was spiked with a small dose of radiation. The path the radiation took through June's body was then traced with the use of a geiger counter.

Far upper left—Each of these three boys holds a wiffle ball. Only one was radiated, and Ricky Dendy (left) had the radiated ball.

These are pictures from one of the Thespians best plays, "Alice in Wonderland," presented for elementary schools in this area.

The Bi-Racial Committee eased tensions at Lee.

The Bi-Racial Committee was organized last year. Its purpose was to create harmony between the blacks and whites at Lee, and to help them work towards making the school system at Lee function more smoothly, enabling everyone to obtain the proper education. The Bi-Racial committee has lived up to its purpose of its establishment by easing the rising tensions at Lee. The committee was aided in its task by the two competent men assigned to our school, Officer Gilbert (above) and Mr. White. (below)

The Donkey Basketball game was again this year as it always has been, a grueling tournament that featured our "almighty" coaches against those "up and coming sports figures in America," those "superstars," the Lee High 'L' clubbers. The game was won by the coaches, who combined their magnificent donkey riding with their superb ball handling and shooting, to dominate the game and humble our mighty 'L' clubbers, who still haven't figured out where they went wrong. The game was successful in raising money that is badly needed by our athletic department.

Homecoming Court 1971

Homecoming—the "ice-breaker" of the school year to come. But to the girls on the court it's more than an "ice-breaker." It's a special event, which will stand out for years to come as one of the happiest memories to come out of their high school life.

The queen and her court, as always, were elected by the football players. They were presented to the student body at the Homecoming pep-rally and then again at the game that night.

In accordance with the tradition, last year's queen, Becky Bolton, returned to crown and present a dozen red roses to this year's queen, Laurie Brown.

This event will be well remembered by the girls and by all who were involved in—Homecoming 1971.

According to tradition, the 1971 Christmas Court was elected by the Student Government. The girls were presented to the student body at the Christmas program which was held the Friday before the holidays. They were escorted by their class presidents and the Christmas Belle was escorted by Mr. Murphree. Skits were provided by the Student Government and the Safety Club. Entertainment was also provided by the Band and the Rebeliers. The Belle and her court assisted the homeroom representatives in placing gifts for needy children under the Christmas tree.

The Confederates Roses beauty pageant was held Thursday afternoon February 10. Mark Wamsley, the Beta Club president, was emcee. The Beta Club nominated and voted on the girls and chose four impartial judges, who were not from Lee. Entertainment was provided by the Lee High stage band, conducted by Mr. Gerbrecht. Patrick Ricks, who sang the theme song from Billy Jack while Jane Griffith accompanied her on the flute, Isiah Carter and Earl Roselle sang "Grandma's Hands" and the Bayou Brothers, Mark Wilson, Allen Cox, Steve Lackie, sang "Midnight at Coonie Swamp." Penny Kracht was crowned by last year's queen Liz Thompson.

Sports

Sports somehow typify our own attempts at physical, mental, social, or spiritual excellence. The hard work and constant practice necessary to perfect athletic skills are just as important in other areas. When we see the work pay off—as in victory—we realize just how much a person can do if he makes that total effort. Sports-watching is exhilarating because we are witnessing man's ability to master himself. Competition . . . discipline . . . the glory of victory . . . acceptance of defeat . . . and the good times we had at athletic events will be remembered by all Rebel fans.

The 1971 Lee High Rebels

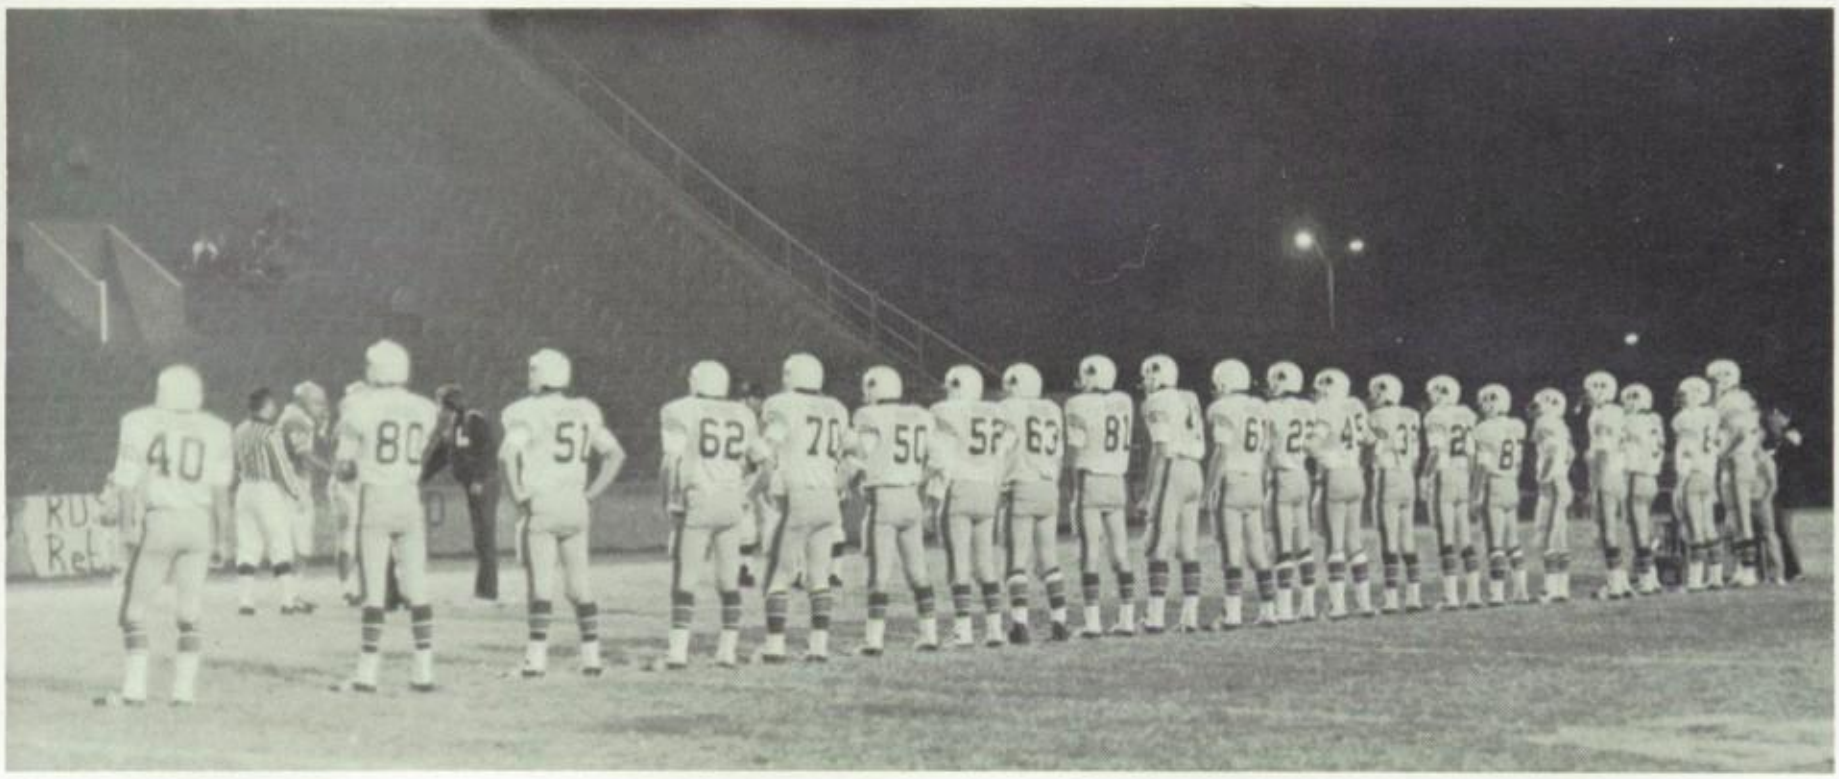
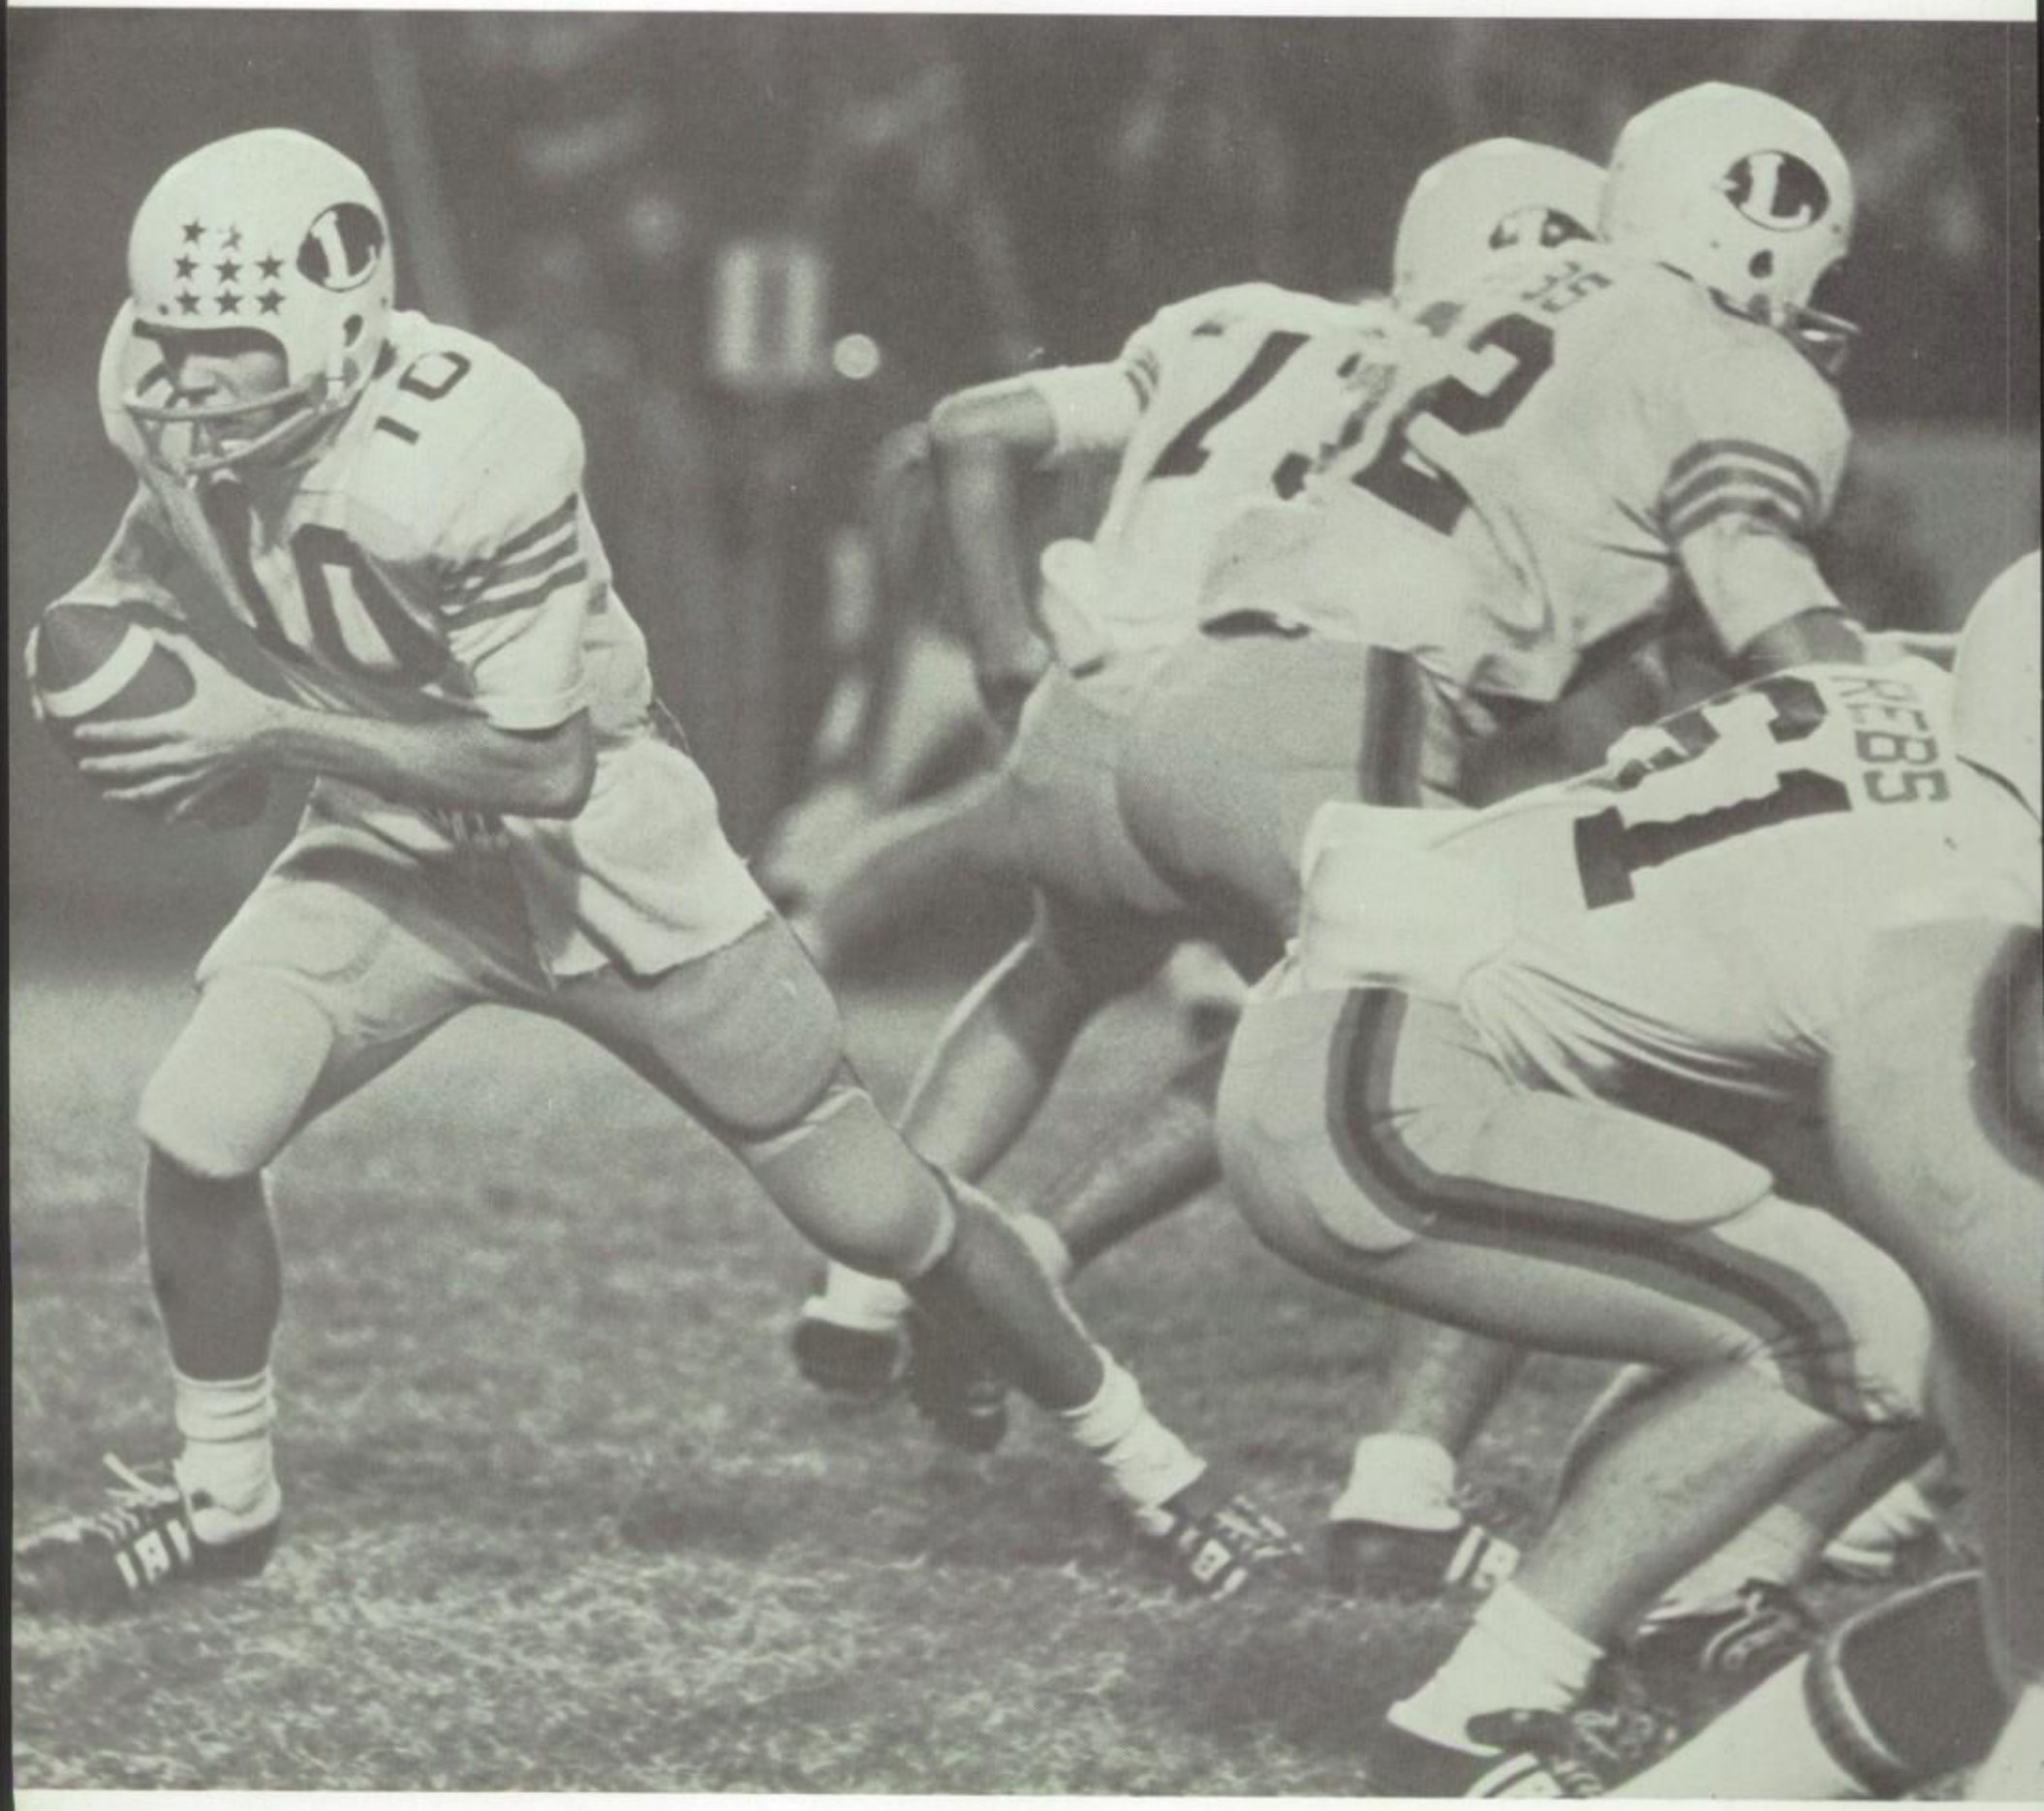
Victory is a notable thing. It is the apex of desire. It is not something that everyone does all the time and that, perhaps, is the reason its realization causes the adrenalin to flow. For there are losses and the accompanying agony of defeat. Yet, for the student-athlete the dominant force in his being is to win. When the Rebels win, the drama is apparent, the glory is graphic, the demonstration obvious. Suddenly, it happens! A touchdown is scored, and a game is won . . . these are the ingredients which become the catalyst for unbounded delight, for joy to a degree unplanned. And it is reflected throughout the stadium. On the field, along the sidelines, in the locker rooms, outside the structure, by participants and spectators alike. On the other side there are the pangs of defeat, not as noticeable, not as intriguing, not as obvious. Even slightly embarrassing, yet it is there. But the winner leads the way as he savors and enjoys—That is what it is all about.





The quarterback is the one player on the field on whom the entire crowd's attention is riveted. He stands hunched over in the huddle, dominant, instructive, informative, the master of all he surveys. The huddle breaks, he trots to his post directly behind the center, ever observant of the defense. The barking of the signals commences, yet, even then, he is constantly watching the other team as it moves into position, trying to outguess him. All of the time he is seeking to outguess them. The ball is handed back to him and in that split-second the months, even the years of preparation must pay off. He drops back and hands off the football; he drops back and cocks that arm as his eyes dart downfield for a receiver who is open; maybe rolls out, then pitches to a running back or keeps the ball himself as he propels himself forward toward the opposing goal line. No matter which way his style dictates, the quarterback occupies center stage of the arena.

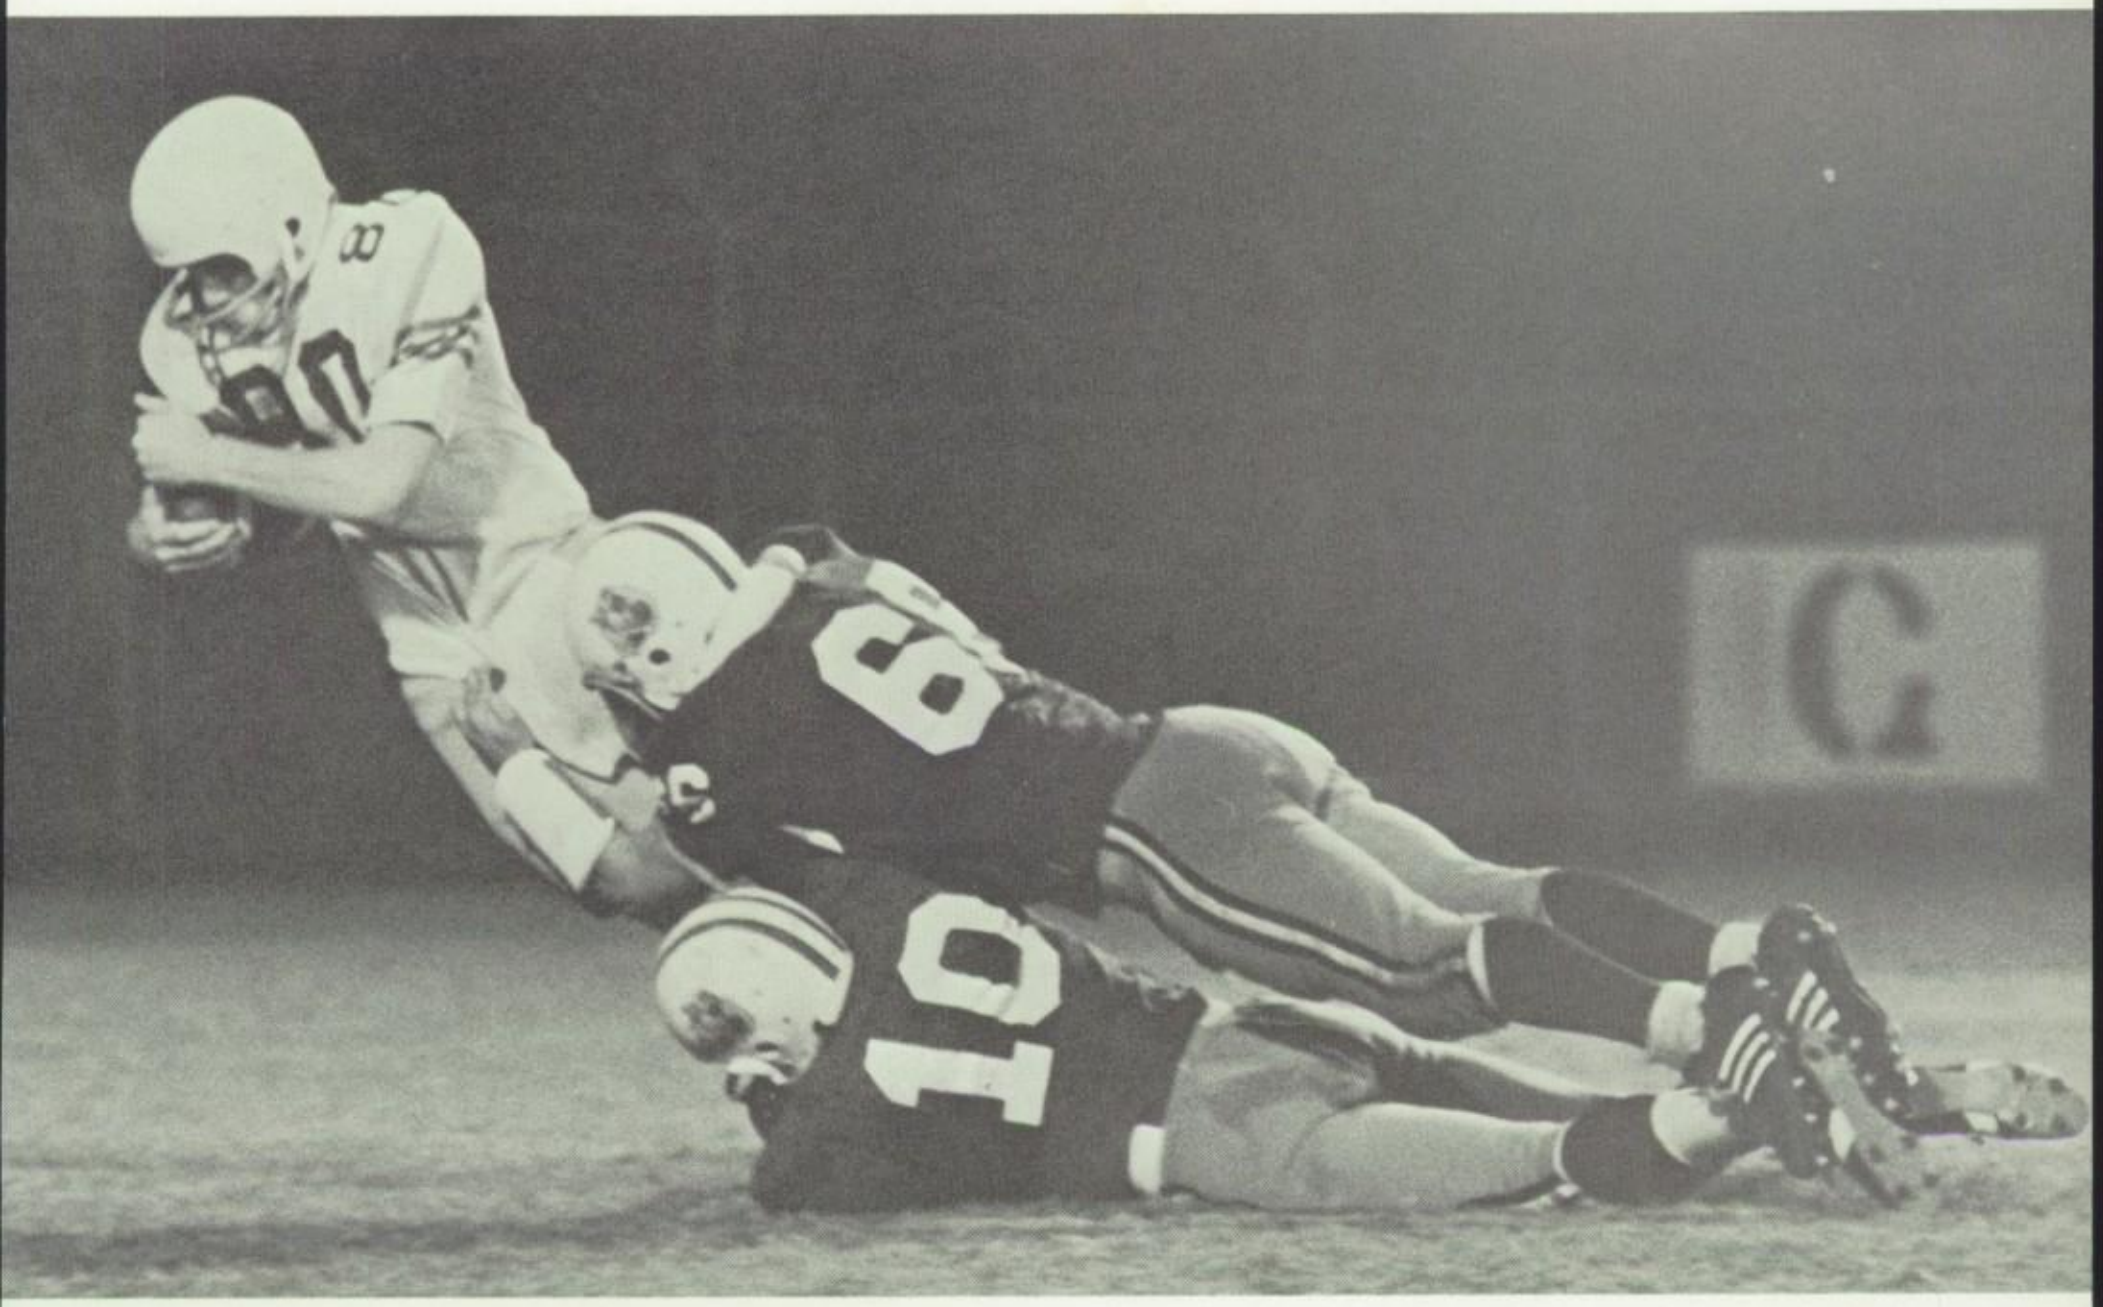
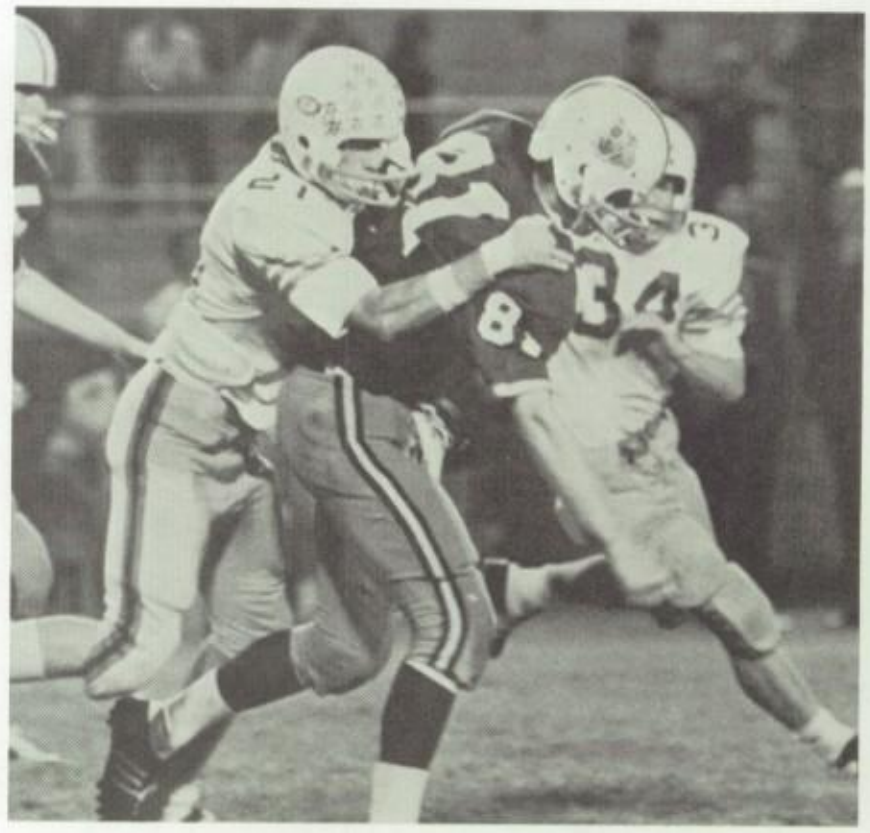
Lee High Coaches: Major Harris, Bobby Wicker, Bill Bofinger, Jerry Wilkerson, Jim Keaton, head coach.



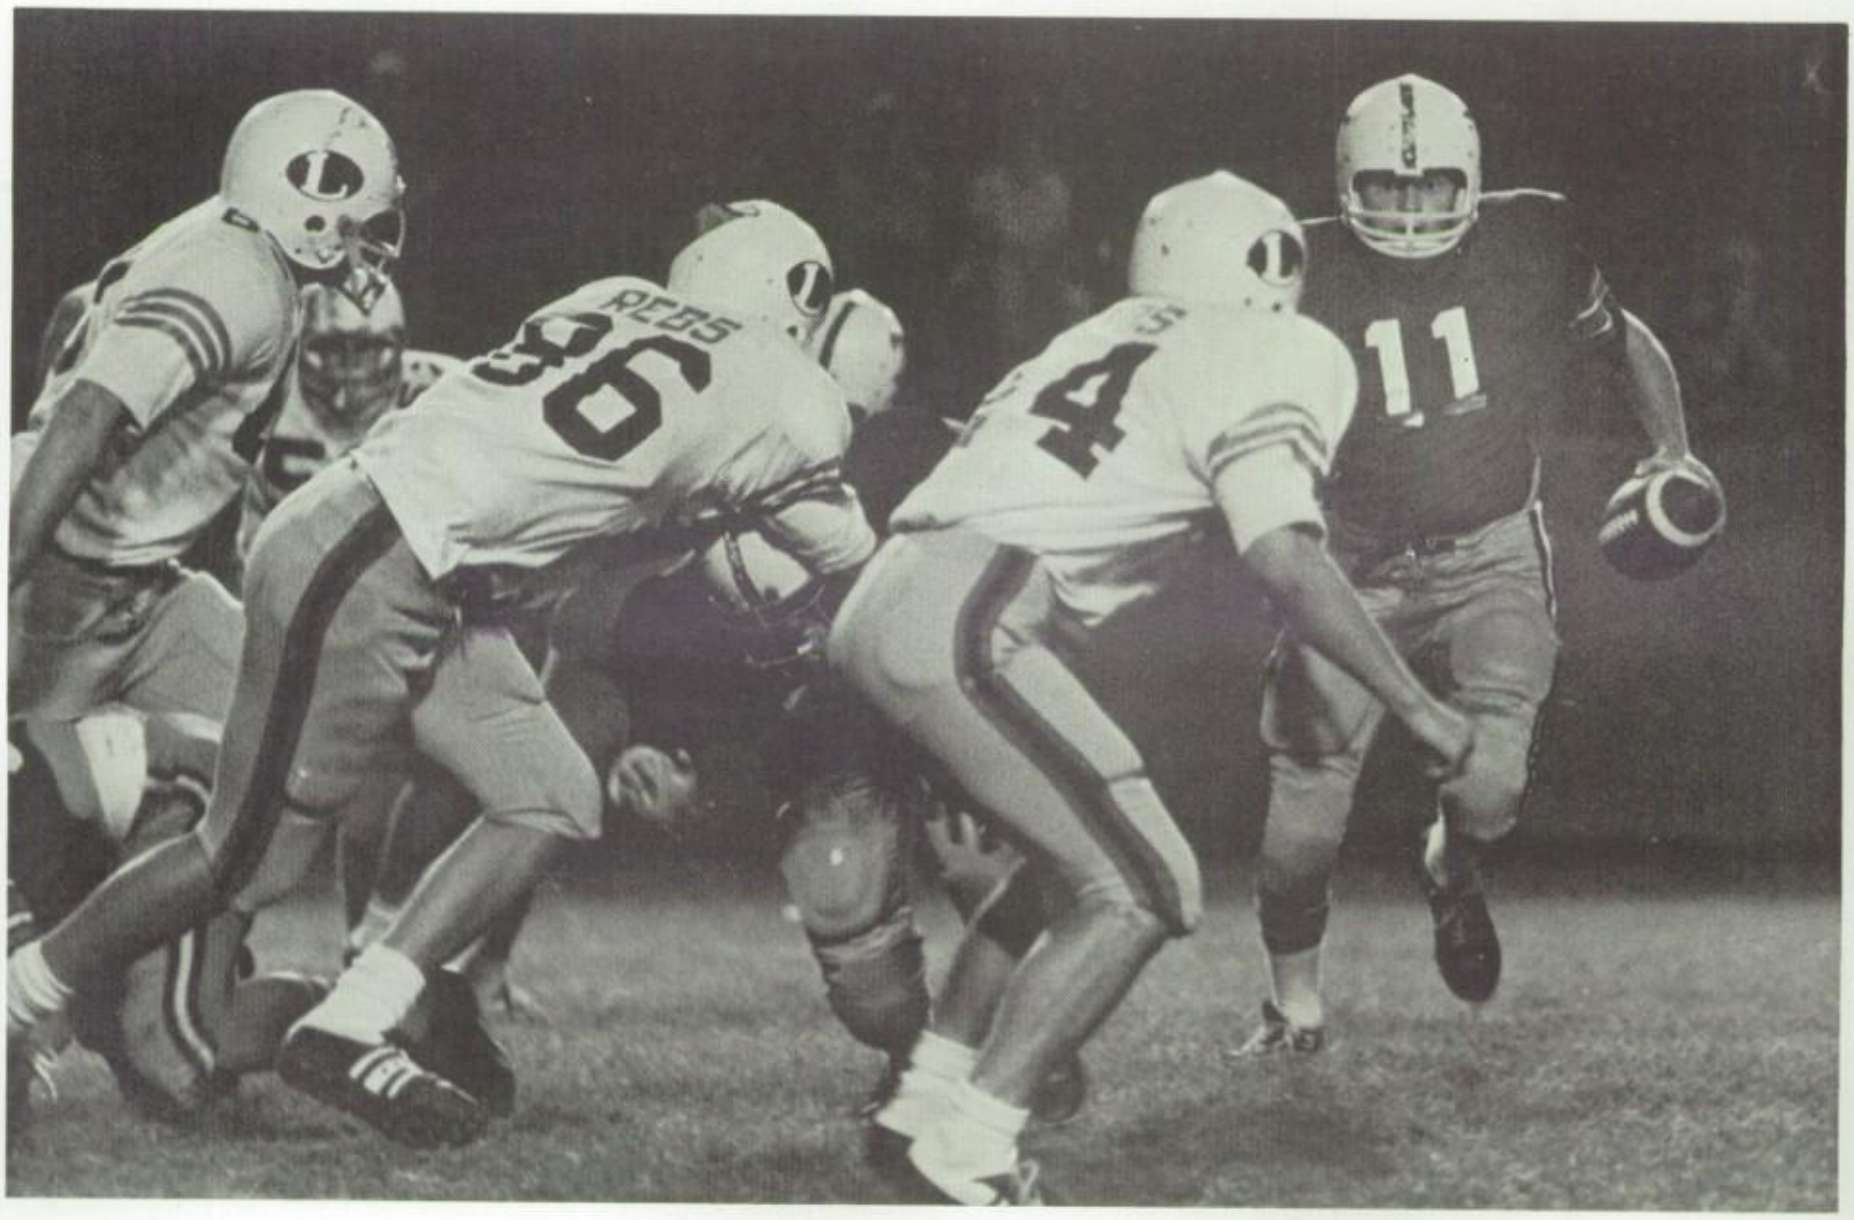
It is one of the most exciting moments in this exciting spectacle called football. The quarterback drops back; the receivers break downfield; the ball is lofted in the air in a perfect arc; it lands in the out-stretched arms and the receiver nuzzles the ball to him as he eats up real estate and heads goalward.

Defense is the name of the game.

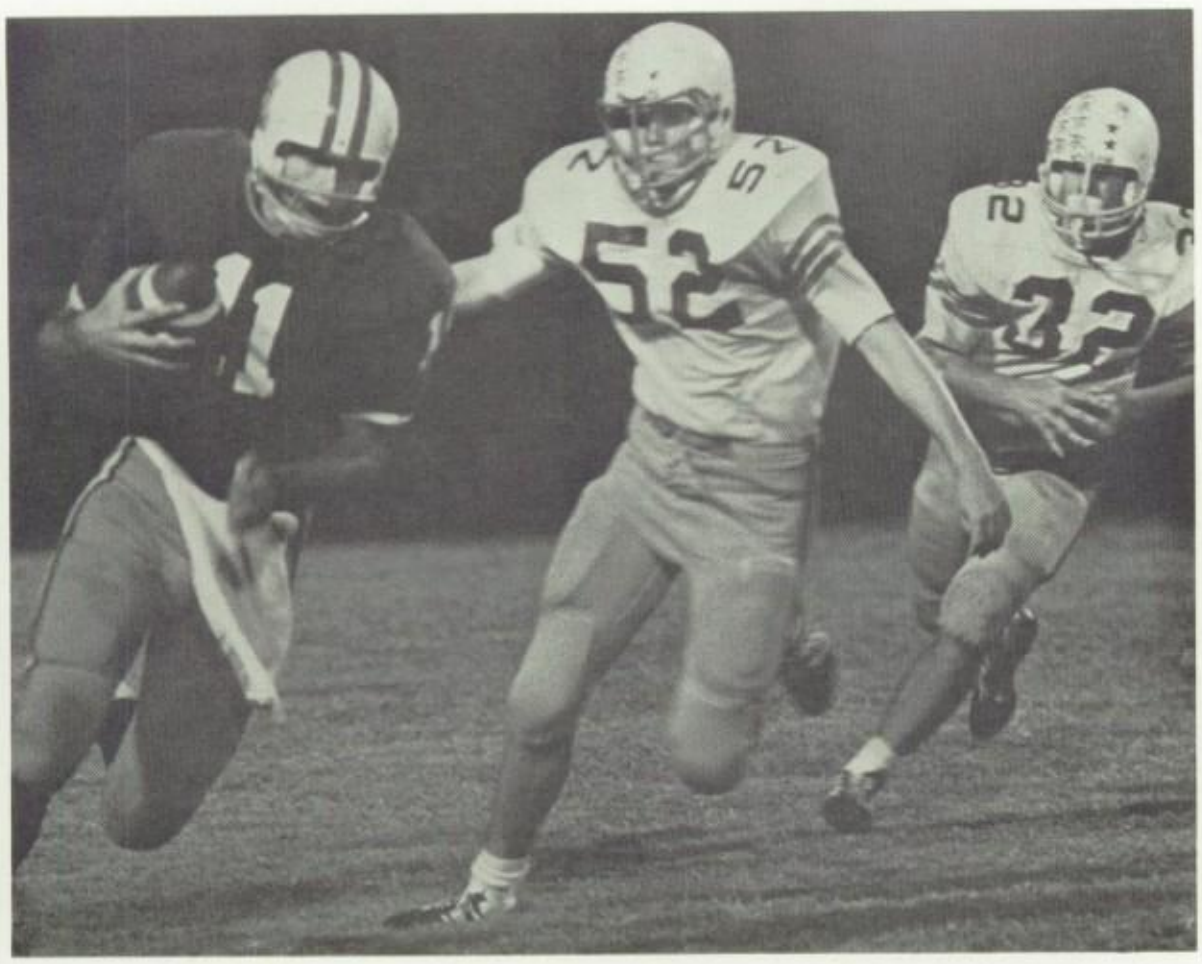
Wayne Atkinson returns intercepted pass.



Bruce Hammatt collars Bulldog receiver.



A trio of Rebels harasses Tara quarterback.



Kent Hunter and Roger Bajon pursue the play.

The Lee High defense played a tremendous role in all of our games this year. By both keeping the opponents from scoring and turning over the ball to the offense in fine field position, the defense certainly did its share toward winning ball games. Throughout the year the defense continued to come up with the big play, earning themselves many skull and crossbones.

The fortunes of our 1972 Varsity Basketball team were quite unknown at the beginning of the year. Only three lettermen of the year before were returning. Unproven players were thrust into starting positions in the hope that they would prove themselves. It was quite a challenge for our young team, but they met the challenge head on.

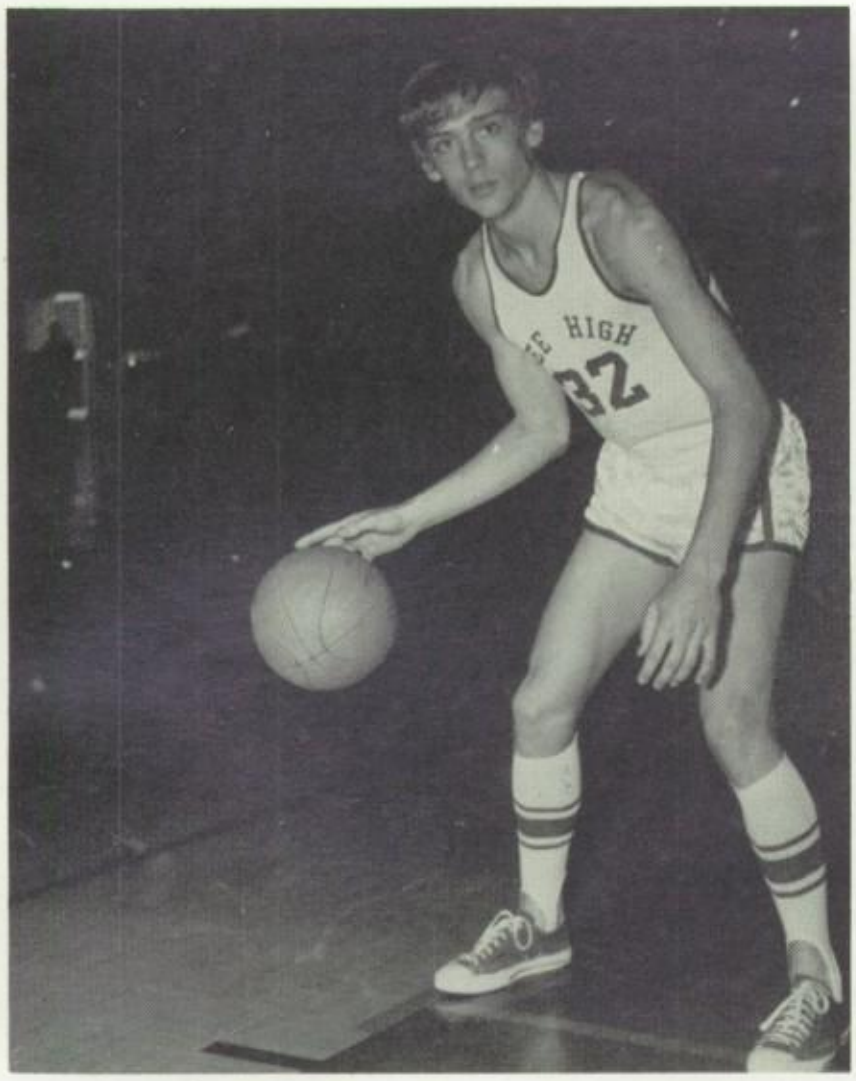
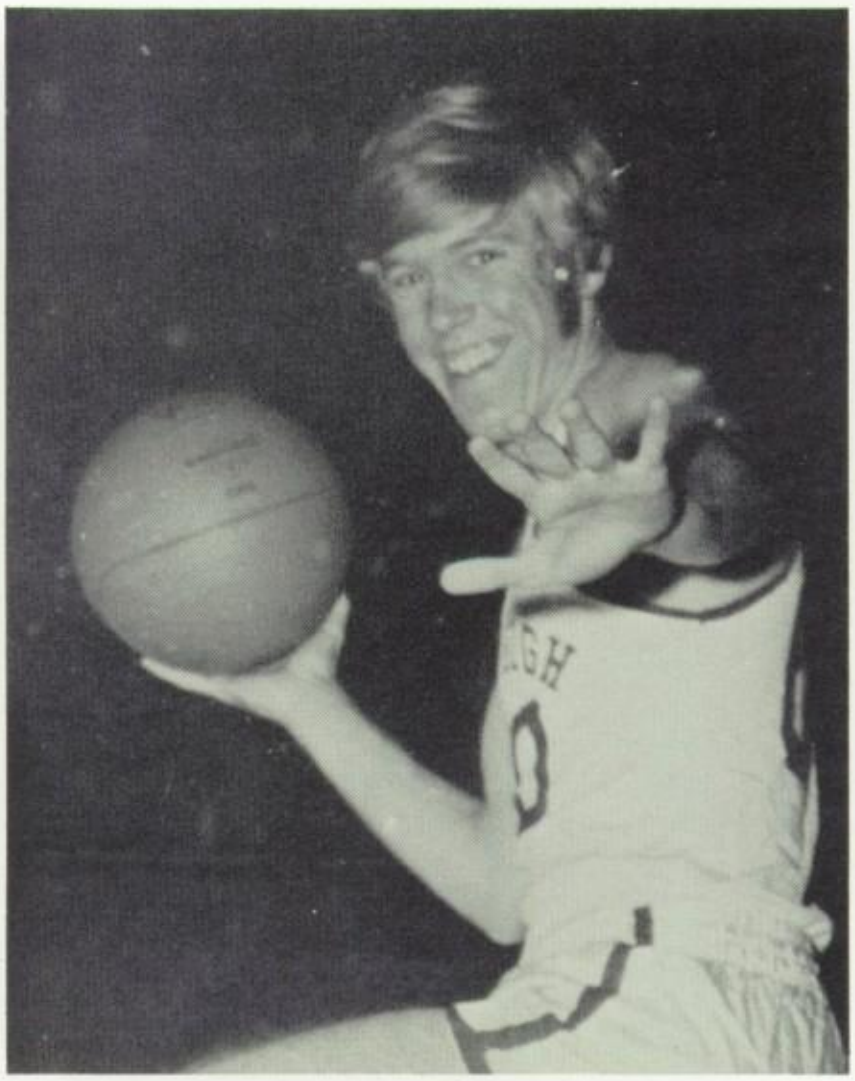
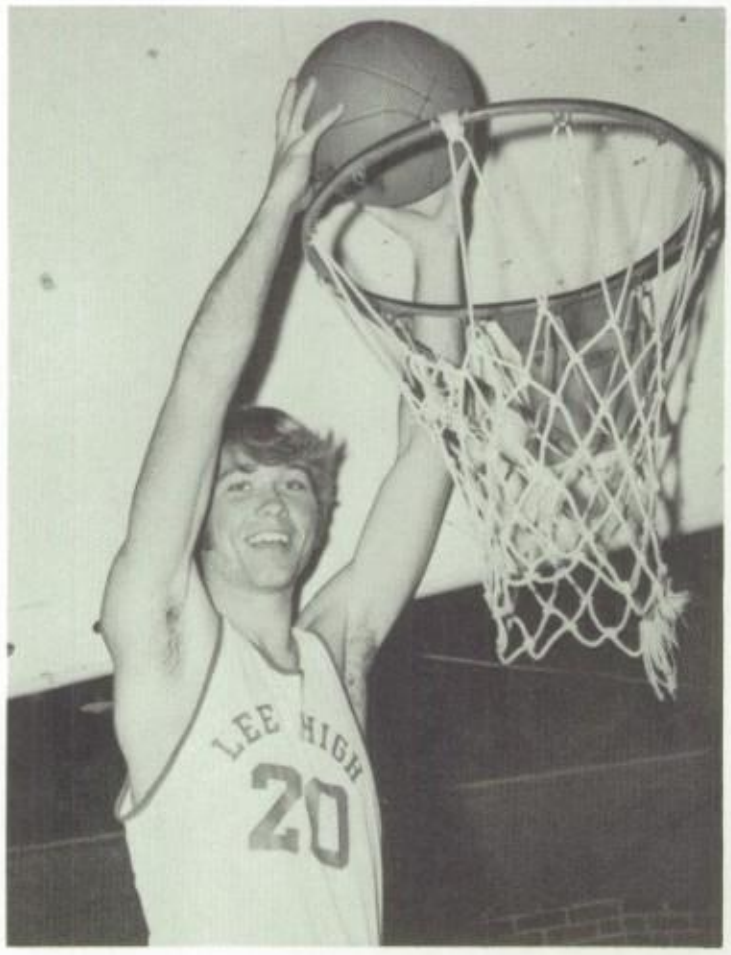
The first game of the season gave us an indication of things to come. Lee beat Zachary 61 to 57 but was very erratic. During the rest of the season, the longest winning streak Lee could muster was three games.



Senior Forward Jim Dry



Junior Guard Greg Baird



Senior Guard Bob Hammonds

This was the first year that Lee High played under the sub-district set up. Lee had a record of 4 wins and 6 losses in their sub-district which was good enough for third place.

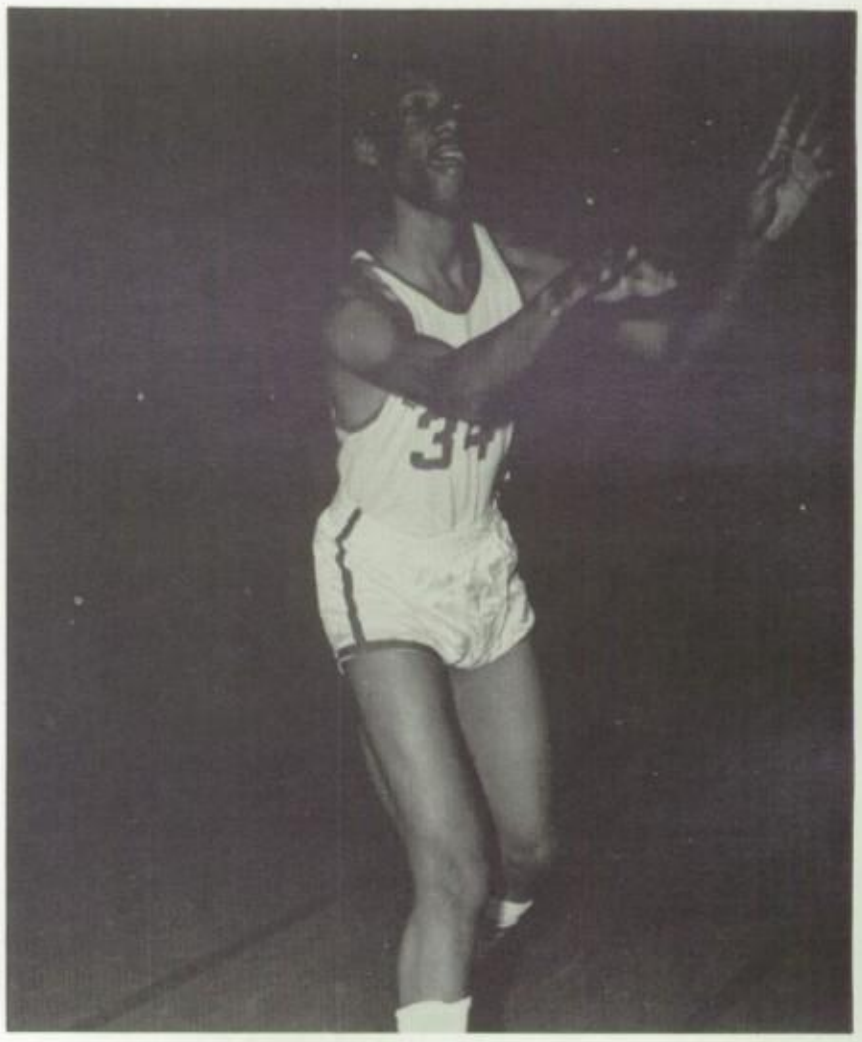
Lee High didn't have one of their best seasons, but there were many satisfying moments. We didn't win district but, we played all of our games as if they were for the championship. Our most notable games were our victories over Baton Rouge High and Broadmoor. The wins over these two foes gave the Lee High fans a shot in the arm.



Senior forward Larry Brown.

Chat goes for a basket.

Lee High's season is now a thing of the past. Lee won some games and lost some games. They made many mistakes, but the whole team learned. Unproven players took over where those from the year before left off. Players like Greg Baird, Jim Dry, Dennis Powers, and Bob Hammonds turned into steady performers. The season is over for now but it will come back as it always has.

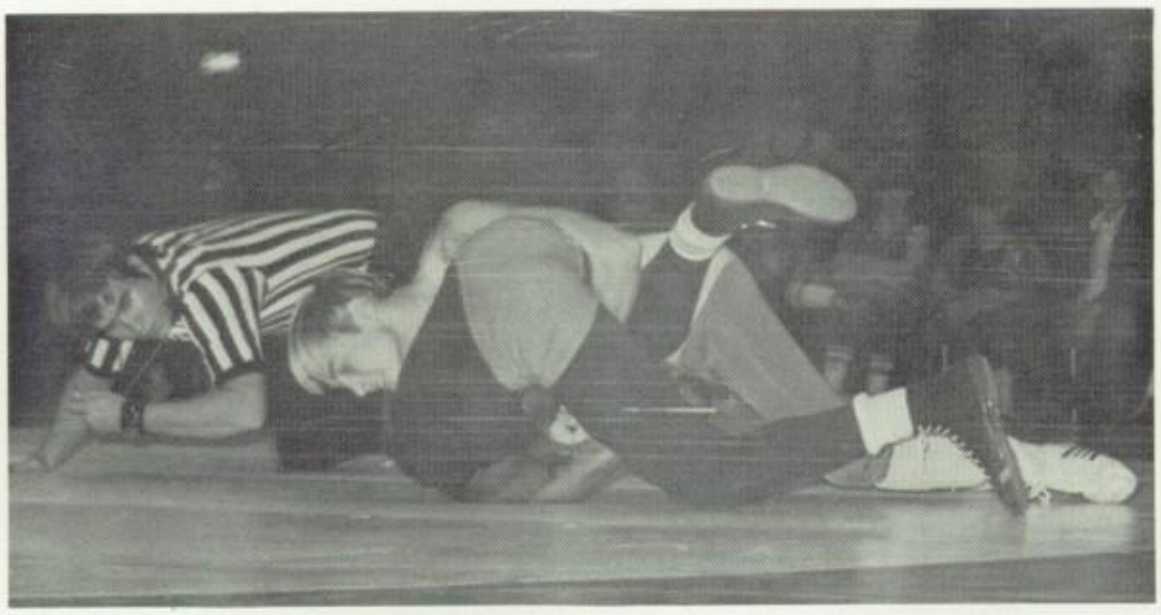
Senior Robert Simon fighting out of trouble against Alabama opponent.

The 1971-72 Lee High Wrestling team more than lived up to it's pre-season expectations. This year's team went undefeated against other teams from Baton Rouge and had a respectable record against outside tougher competition. The Rebels also sent a delegation to the First Annual Sam Cashio Christmas Wrestling Tournament and made a trip to Alabama to wrestle teams from that area. By performing so well this season, the wrestling team has promoted a greater interest in the sport as is evidence by the growing numbers at the wrestling meets. This year's top wrestlers and their 1971-72 records are as follows: Beau McInnis 22-1, Ted Nissing 23-3-1, Marion Murphy 15-4, and Ricky Gutierrez 17-5.



Senior Frank O'Quinn working a Baker foe over on his back for a pin.

This years golf team will be trying to regain its District 4-AAAA and Regional Championships of two years ago. Last years team had a very good record but failed to win the two most important tournaments. Having lost none of their players to graduation, this year's team should be very strong. The returning players this year will include five senior lettermen: Big Al Watts, Paul Castro, Dave "Kickoff: Briggs, Chip Pellerin, Todd "Whitey" Larson. Also expected to help the team are sophomores Robbie Beacham and Ricky Pellerin.

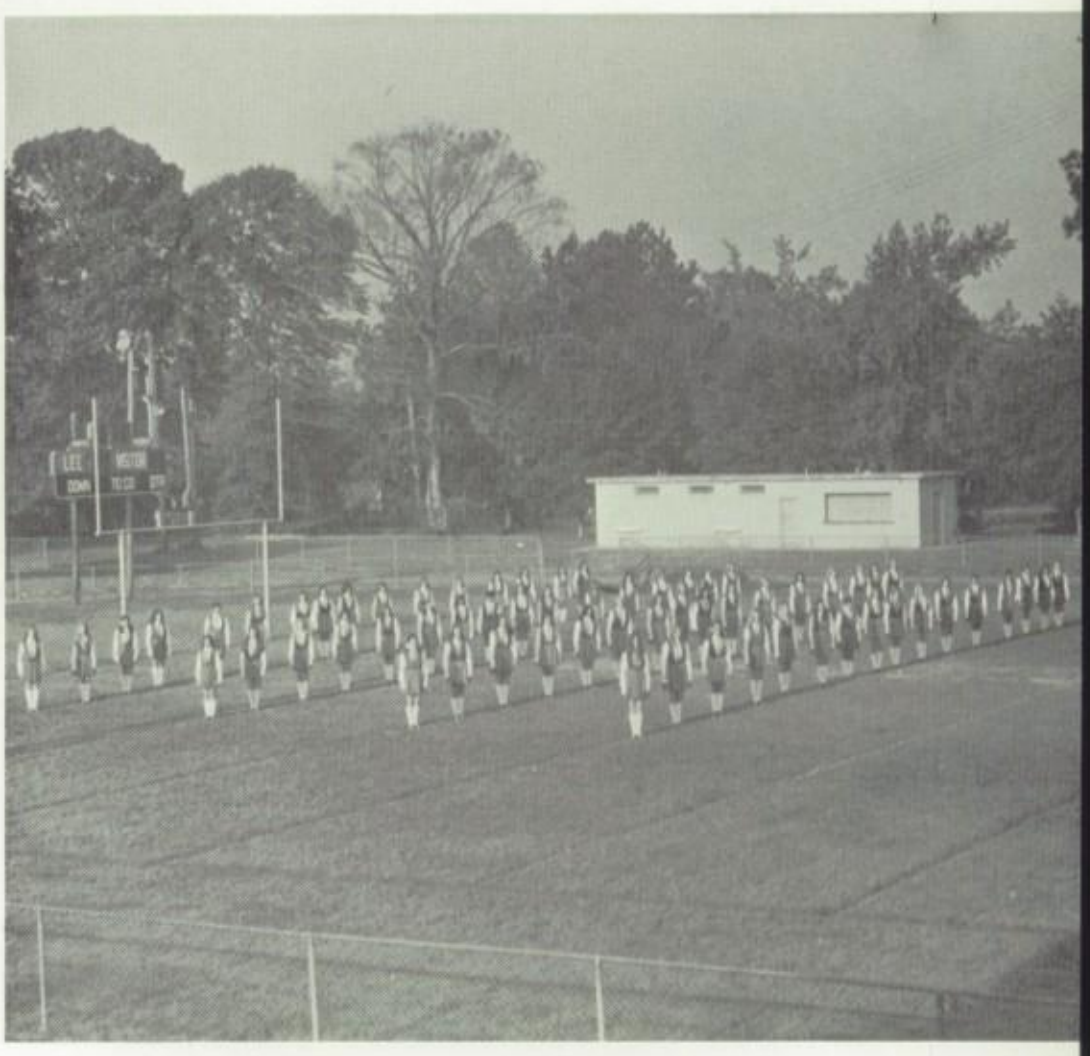
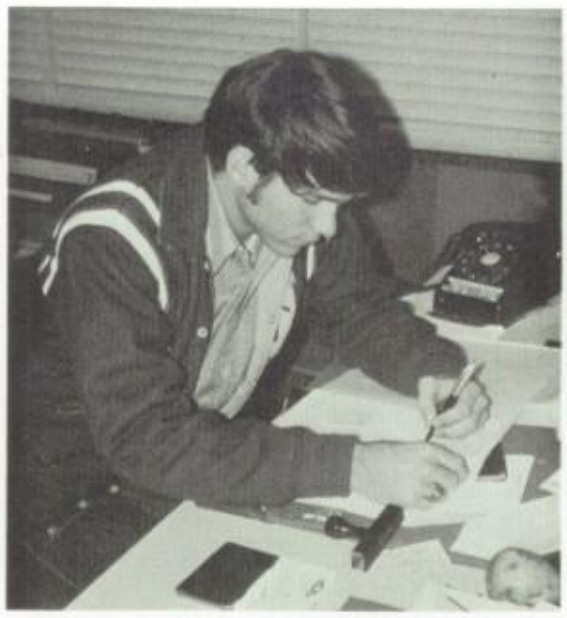
Organizations

We all need an opportunity to learn by doing as well as by watching. We also need time for recreation, for doing something that is fun. Organizations at Lee fill these needs. Students have a chance to express themselves in their favorite activities; they can develop leadership and poise. Close friendships are begun; there is a sense of belonging. We have memories of working together—helping others, performing, or raising money for a special project—and of playing—that hard-earned trip to another city or country, Christmas caroling, or just goofing off.



Student Government

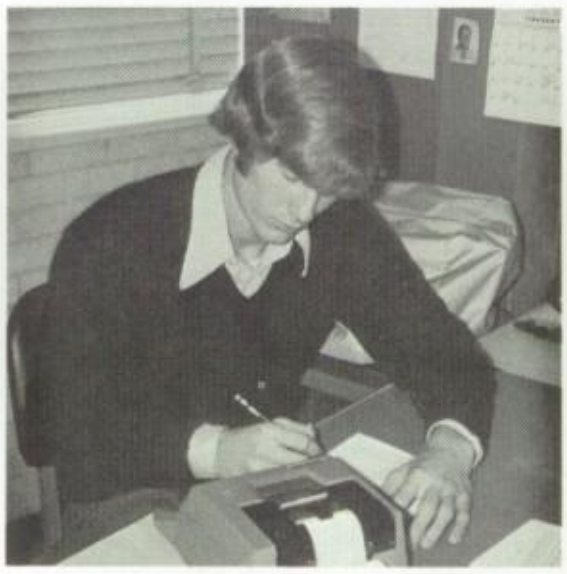


Tommy Scott—Vice President

Andy Reed—President

Mrs. Ferne Loupe—Sponsor

Amy Erwin—Secretary



Billy Patrick—Treasurer

The Superintendant Conference Committee: Cynthia Ruffin and Andy Reed.

Outstanding Representatives:
seated: Joellen McIntire, Johnny McMullan, Kris Keogh.
standing: Susan Major, Day Schneider.

Captain of the boat take care of the boat and bring it to the games: Kenny Dunaway, Gerry Hill.

The Student Government, '72 version, will go down in the history of this school as being one of the more progressive organizations.

To set aside one of the many projects that the Student Government has done as being the most outstanding would be difficult. But probably as far as the community goes, the establishment of the Greater Baton Rouge Student Government Association will serve our high school students in this parish as a means of student voice. Not only did Lee initiate the organizational meetings and actually found the organization, but was elected the first president of the 15 school member organization.

This year the Student Government has switched to two sets of representatives and executive boarders changing at mid-term. Student Government has 52 homerooms to operate, with a representative and alternate from each homeroom. Representatives sell football pep ribbons, locker shelves, supervise the lunch line, give Monday morning devotionals, and compete among each other for the highly regarded Homeroom of the Month Award.

The Student Government Office conducted a great deal of commerce during the year. The office was remodeled last summer with red, white, and blue highlighting the area. The Thanksgiving Project had a new twist this year with not only food going to the Volunteers of America but more closely to us, the janitors got baskets in thanks for their service to the school.

The Christmas Program this year was livened up with a hilarious version of "The Night Before X-mas" as its skit. The Christmas Belle and her court were selected by the representatives and presided over the program. More toys were collected this year than ever before and X-mas trees for the first time were donated so that more underpriviledged families would have a merrier Christmas.

Student Government took the "waiting" out of the Robert E. Lee and built a scale model of the actual Riverboat Robert E. Lee. From our fight song an information book called the Pilot's Log was presented at "Welcome Aboard," the freshman orientation.

The Student Government also took on sponsoring delegates to other organizations including the Superintendent's Conference Committee and the E.B.R. Youth Council. Inter Club and Cotillion are also sponsored by Student Government.

In the Spring, area high school student exchange occurs with the annual clean up program.

These activities and many more make faculty, administration, and students proud of Robert E. Lee High School.

The French Club offers all French students with a B average for one semester a chance to explore the French language and learn more about the French culture.
Last spring, 40 members spent a day in New Orleans. At the closing of last year, one student, selected by the faculty as the most outstanding French Club member was awarded a 3-wk. tour of Europe. French III and IV members teach French once a week at Westdale Elementary. Plans for this year include Christmas caroling in French, ringing bells for the Volunteers of America, and exploring the French culture in the Southern regions of Louisiana.

The Societe Honoraire de Francais is an honorary organization for students of French in grades 10, 11, and 12 to promote higher standards of scholarship, stimulate interest in the study of French and to create enthusiasm for an understanding of French culture and civilization. Members must have maintained a semester average of 3.5 or higher, with no one semester average in French lower than a B. Members who have completed or terminated the study of French before graduation are known as Associate Members.

The FMLA is for students who have an interest in music and some musical ability. Its purpose is to give its members more musical experience and increase their interest in music. During the summer the FMLA sent members to the Governor's Honor Program. The Governor's Honor Program is a free music camp for band, orchestra, and choir. The FMLA went Christmas carolling over the holidays.

The Debate Club's main purpose is to engage in extra-curricular debates with students from other schools. They attend district and state rallies held annually and participate in other festivals.

Any student presently enrolled in Spanish with a 2.5 overall average and a C in Spanish can join the Spanish club. New members must participate in an initiation project to be decided upon by the club. This year, the Spanish Club plans a car wash, a Christmas party for a needy Spanish family, a candy sale, a Dixie Day project, and a Banquet.

The Future Homemakers of America is an organization open to all home economic students who pass a written test, pay their dues and are currently enrolled in Home Economics. The officers and members have been busy with bake sales, publishing and selling Paddlewheels, the telephone roster, filling Christmas stockings for the Salvation Army, a Pot Luck Supper with the Rebeliers entertaining, ringing bells and stuffing envelopes. During the summer there was a D.H. Holmes Style Show which members participated in.

Every month there is an officer and girl of the month elected. Many projects were carried out throughout the year.

The Office Aides help in the office an hour each day. They answer phones, run errands, distribute the morning absentee list and many other things. They are really a big help in the office.

The Red Cross organization at Lee is an affiliate of the National Red Cross and assists them in helping the sick and under priviledged. The Lee High group has its own monthly projects like parties for the Deaf, dances for the retarded and trips to Jackson to visit the mental patients. They also participated in the Council projects.

The Writing Club is in its first year at Lee. One of its purposes is to enable students to read their poetry and fiction and receive construction criticism. The primary purpose of the club is to publish a book. This book is to be an anthology containing the works of the Lee High students. Through the year, the Writing Club has invited writers, singers, and journalists to enlighten the members.

The purpose of the National Thespians is to further interest in theatrical activities and to recognize superior effort. To be a member, one must have worked 100 hours on or offstage on a school production. Each year the Thespians present a night of one act plays, a children's theater production, a full length production, and a workshop production. This year the Thespians presented "Hello Out There!", "Crawling Arnold", "Here We Are", "The Sandbox", and "Alice in Wonderland". This group hosted the State Convention in January for about 200 other Thespians. They have also attended many rallies and conventions and won several awards.

The JROTC is a national program authorized by law and enacted by Congress and conducted by the Department of the Army in cooperation with the educational indtitution.

The program is designed to teach the cadet reliability, leadership, good citizenship, and self-discipline. It offers the student credits toward a high school diploma. He learns basic military procedures during the first year of study, then takes the responsibility of leadership and teaches the procedures during succeeding years. JROTC studies are excellent background for senior courses and give the student more opportunity to become a distinguished graduate with a Regular Army Commission.

The Lee High JROTC has participated in extra activities such as parades and drill meets, along with the regular activities such as inspections, interschool competition, and a military ball.

Lee's cheerleaders attend the National Cheerleading Association Summer Camp each summer. During the past four years, they have brought back three first place trophies, four "Spirit Sticks" and numberous ribbons. In addition to the other trophies, this past year's cheerleaders were awarded a second place trophy at the Baton Rouge area one-day clinic. This was the first time a squad from Lee had ever placed at this clinic.

For the first time J.V. Cheerleaders were elected. They cheer at all junior varsity games and sometimes perform at the school pep rallies.

The Varsity and J.V. Cheerleaders do more than lead cheers. They organize and plan each rally, sponsor pep bonfires, sell programs at the annual Rebel Relays, paint signs, and make "spirit food" for the team.

As you can see, cheerleading is by no means an easy job!

Under the leadership of their new sponsor, Miss Alexander, the Confederettes have led a rewarding and fun-filled year. They have been busy selling candy and do-nuts to finance their support of the football and basketball teams and various other teams. At least one sore throat out of 70 cheering girls come from every game, no matter what the outcome.

Along with cheering, the Confederettes perform half-time shows and hand-motion routines. The girls were invited to march in the pre-game show at the Grantland Rice Bowl game. The Confederettes also went to Bogalousa for a football game and to Alexandria for two basketball games.

The Lee High Instrumental Music Department is under the direction of John Gerbrecht and consists of four bands.

The Varsity Band begins its work during the summer when incoming Freshmen and upperclassmen begin learning and reviewing the fundamentals of marching. During football season the band provided half-time and pre-game entertainment at the football games and additional noise at all of the pep rallies.

After football season is over, auditions were held to select the members of the Concert Band. This Band sight-read many pieces of music and selected a few of the pieces to perform at district festival in the spring. The band also participated in Solo and Ensemble Festival and presented a spring concert and a soloist concert.

The Stage Band presented several concerts during the year and participated in the Stage Band Festival at Loyola University.

The Orchestra worked during the year on musical pieces featuring string instruments and presented a concert at the end of the year.

1971—Music Reflections—1972

In 1971-72, the Lee High Choral Department excelled and expanded to enclude two hundred forty students performing in five groups locally, state-wide, and even for a National Convention reaching fifty-six countries. The department consists of an "A Cappella Choir," sixty-eight auditioned singers, "The Rebeliers," Lee Goodwill Ambassadors, eight auditioned couples singing and dancing throughout the south and "The Gleecians," a State Champion group four years in a row—an "All Male Set" numbering sixty strong; "The Dixie Darlings," seventy selected female singers harmonizing treble sounds; and "The Belles and Beaus," a freshman choir.

Accomplishments have been many. A Retreat held at La. State Dept. of Ed. Youth Center and conducted by Dr. Mel Ivy, Loyola University; a concert and tour to St. Joseph's Abby near Covington where we listened and performed for the Monks; an outstanding Christmas Concert which was written up by columnist Ann Price of the Morning Advocate praising the A Cappella Choir; a clinic held by Dallas Draper of LSU; hosting two University Choirs—Texas Christian University and Loyola University; a performing tour covering four southern states and Disneyworld; eleven represented in each highly selected Governor's Honor Choir and La. All State Choir; top honors at the La. State Literary Rally; top honors in Solo-Ensemble Festival; Sweepstakes ratings at District and State Choral Festivals: and countless performances and activities throughout the areas.

We believe 1971-72 Choral students will not forget their experiences with music and the many activities afforded through best efforts which produce best results. The creative elements developed and expressed are intangible. The spirits have been lifted, and it is our charge to each that music remain an integral part of their lives.

REBELLIER PROMINENCE

Of prominence to those who have heard, are the Rebeliers, featured at some of the more important conventions and gatherings of the year in Louisiana. Highlighted performances included: LSU Home and Garden Show; Edwards for Governor Dinners; Governor's Mansion Reception; Beta Club Talent Show Feature; La. National Bank Staff Reception; East Baton Rouge School Board Staff Program; District FHA Convention; Keesler Air Force Base Programs; St. Joseph's Abby; Chevrolet Show; Baton Rouge Medical Auxiliary luncheon; countless local performances for clubs and social gatherings and performance for the International Society of Sugar Cane Technologists where fifty-six countries gathered and heard Governor John J. McKeithen and the Rebeliers as special features for a State Dinner. At the close of the performance, the delegates rose to a standing ovation and threw flowers to the Rebeliers in appreciation. Later, an article appeared in the "International Sugar Journal" picturing and praising the Rebeliers.

The many fine businesses in Baton Rouge have again shown their interest in us by backing the Sabre. They are eager to help the youth of Baton Rouge, whether by supplying goods and services or supporting a school yearbook. Most are familiar to us; some places hold special memories. Whatever the relationship, these businesses have made another Sabre possible.

Shaun,

May '92

Best wishes to your future life. May all your present endeavors also come to a profitable end. Don't let one straight line dominate your future course. We must all have more than one interest

Again Steve TARA it easy, I hope mis-fortune won't cross your path. IN the event it does IN ME you will always find soppORT. love the children

Tom BURWA

Hey Steve, Me and you and T. Thomas have got to go out some night and - uh - you know - and some girls, too...

You better leave the girls alone somebody's daddy's gonna get you.

Keep cool buddy

Steve McGary

I'm looking forward to tomorrow
I can't wait to really live.
I want to see and touch and be things
Things I can't be yet
For I'm too young today
Too ignorant
Too afraid.
Tomorrow will be better, I know.

But when I get there,
Will life be all I expected?
Or will it be lost somewhere
Back in my childhood.
Will I sit, and close my eyes,
Trying to imagine my good old days.
My feet keep dragging behind me
Yesterday was good, so good.
I wish it wouldn't slip away.

Well you know, I'm searching
But what I'll find is right under me
I mean, I'm still looking forward to tomorrow
And yesterday was good, so good.
But today—
Today is a beautiful day.

Dear

W. Dear
Well, only one more year to go huh? When you gonna take out Lucy an get — — — ? Well I reckon I'll See ya this summer o next year
So Long
Buck

Dear Steve,
It's a shame I got to know you, cause now I have to add your name to my "friend" list. I dope to not see you during the summer. Of course I'm bidding a George & the Rachel

To a ~~ooo~~ great violinist!
I thought you and Reed did great on your duet. Keep up the great work and you'll be another Yosha(?) whats-his-face. Bee good this summer and I'll come back to see y'all next year. Luv, Penny Kendall 2nd Flute '92

To a guy who can play a great fiddle but a crummy violin
Good Luck next year
Chuck Carr

Steve, I'm going to miss you Matt your Dear "Texas Forget" Friend Friendship Friendship Friendship
Love ya
Eileen

Dear Steve,
It's been a pain this year but I'm glad I got to play with you. Maybe we'll be in band together next year. Have a great summer, so practice your violin. Love ya, Charlie
Dear Steve,

Steve,
Lots of Luck
in the future. Keep those women straight.
See Ya,
Reid Falconer

STEVE,
VIOLINS ARE REALLY
CRUMMY. YOU SHOULD HAVE PLAYED CLARINET.
YOU LOOK LIKE A
CLARINET MAN. YOU
BETTER GET BUSY
WITH YOUR LOVE LIFE
BECAUSE McCRARY IS WAY AHEAD OF
YOU. GOOD LUCK IN YOUR SENIOR YEAR.
(MIKE THOMAS)

Steve,
You're a great violinist, so don't let Reed H. get you down. It's been nice knowing you.
Jane Griffith
'Flutist'

Steve,
It's been great
having you for a classmate.
You're a neat guy, but I hate that ---- violin.
Lot's of Luck in the Future
Leslie

Steve,
I can't say that I was glad to talk to you 2 an hour, because handly anybody talked in that class. Maybe next year I'll have a class with you.
Pris

Steve,
To a real great guy, that I wish'd would have known better. It was fun in 3rd hour, exept for dissecting those grubby animals. Hope to have some classes with you next year. Have fun over the summer. Best of Luck. Seniors '74!!
Luv ya,
Sue Paul

Steve,
yaire a good violin player. Keep up the good work. maybe you and Heagler can go into business some day! Good luck!

Pam
Burkfield

Steve,
Hi, kid! Get another year of Herbrecht and junk like dat. Well, my year has been great, and I hope yours was just as great. Maybe next year we'll have a decent class together. Take care of yourself this summer and have lotsa fun! Keep on truckin'!
Praise the Lord!

Luff ya,
Stretch

Steve,
You're a great violinist, I hear. Had a good in Dorothy's room. Keep that shirttail.
See you next year,
Greg Laney

Steve, It has been fun in the wild wild West hasn't it. Have a good time this summer. Keep out of trouble. We will get Mrs. West back soon.

George McClelland

Sta - love

ony Wumpus Bladder would know, the ~~Bl~~ Ollis is a fine show, but if you dwelve further, the Showboy is good. Don't be a sobbanka or a gorton a zokley or a glodinska. See you next year. Love Tonas

Steve,
I look forward every-day to here you after 3rd hour. I'll miss it when summer comes. Be Good
Camille

Steve,

Well, its been fun in 3rd hour this year, even though you and Willis'd keep bugged me sometimes. (not really!) I'm glad I got to meet you. I won't have any classes with you but see you next year! Have a good summer.

Good luck,

Lydia

Steve,
Cindy S. thinks you want me to sign; I hope so cause I am signing. — Keep up the good work on violin, the Orchestra needs you. I am glad you had Mrs. Hart. I enjoyed your weird book reports! See ya next year.
Good luck in the future,
Jill

Steve,
You have helped make this year a real blast.
Maybe you will get into orch. the real next year.
Keep up the violin and don't have "high fits"
Good luck always Love, Beth

Yo a real nice guy who I have known through high school have a good summer and good lucks in the futures

Love ya
Cindy S. Brown
